- 5.4 The Bank may, in its discretion and without being required to give any explanation, refuse to accept or comply with any Instruction or reject or cancel any Instruction.
- 5.5 The Bank shall have no duty to assess the prudence or otherwise of any Instruction. Notwithstanding this, if the Bank determines that any of the Instructions or other circumstances may expose the Bank (whether directly or indirectly) to any Loss, the Bank may suspend the operation of any or all of the Accounts, the entry into any or all of the Transactions, the provision of all or any of the Services and/or require an indemnity from the Customer before continuing to operate the Account(s), carrying out any Transaction or providing any Service or complying with any Instruction.

6.3.2 a representation that the Bank has performed any due diligence on the Investment Products (or the relevant reference underlying), Transactions, Services or markets; and the Customer should seek his own independent advice as to the suitability of any Investment Product, Transaction or Service as he considers appropriate. The use of or reliance on any such information is at the Customer's own risk. The Bank is not responsible or liable for the accuracy and completeness of any such information, the performance of any Investment Product, or the outcome of any Transaction or Service.

6.4 The Customer agrees and acknowledges that:

6.4.1 the Customer shall be solely responsible for making his own independent investment decisions;

6.4.2 all decisions on how to operate the Account, whether to enter into, invest in, hold or dispose of any Investment Product, and whether to enter into any Transaction or to accept a Service, are the Customer's; and

6.4.3 the Customer does not rely on the Bank, any of its Affiliates, Agents or nominees or any of their directors, officers or employees, or on any research, information, representation, advice, recommendation, view, opinion or other statement (in each case whether written or oral) produced or provided by any of the abovementioned persons in making any investment decision. The Customer has made and will make his own independent assessment of the Investment Products, Transactions and Services in terms of value, merit, suitability, effects or otherwise.

6.5 Without prejudice to any provision of this Clause 6:

6.5.1 the Bank is not obliged to give investment advice or make recommendations and, notwithstanding that the Bank may do so on request by the Customer or otherwise, such investment advice or recommendations are given or made diligently and with reasonable care based on analyses and available alternatives the Bank should reasonably know to exist (and the Customer acknowledges and agrees that it is so given or made) without any responsibility on the part of the Bank; and

6.5.2 the Customer acknowledges and agrees that the Customer is aware that the Bank does not hold out any of its Agents, directors, officers or employees as having any authority to advise the Customer and the Bank does not purport to advise the Customer on the terms of, or any other matters connected with, the Account, any Investment Product, Transaction or Service.

6.6 None of this Agreement, the Account, any Service or Transaction or, to the extent applicable, any investment advice provided by the Bank to the Customer, shall give rise to any fiduciary or other equitable duties on the part of the Bank.

7 COMPLIANCE WITH LAWS

7.1 The Bank and its Affiliates may take any action in accordance with or in order to comply with any Applicable Laws (including the laws, regulations, notices and directions of public and regulatory authorities which relate to the prevention of money laundering, terrorist financing and the provision of financial and other services to any persons or entities) as it deems appropriate.

7.2 The Customer undertakes to comply with Applicable Laws at all times. The Standard Chartered Group has no obligation to monitor or ensure the Customer's compliance with Applicable Laws including any restrictions on the powers to operate the Account, any restrictions in relation to investments, the authority and capacity of the Customer to open, maintain or operate the Account, to enter into any Transaction, to accept the provision of Services or to give Instructions or otherwise to act in connection with the Account, any Transaction or Service.

8 PAYMENTS

8.1 All payments by the Bank to the Customer under any Transaction or Service shall be made to the Account or any one of the Customer's accounts with the Bank or by such other means, in each case, as the Bank shall determine in its discretion.

8.2.1 deductions from the Account or any one of the Customer's accounts with the Bank as determined by the Bank in its sole and absolute discretion; or

or by such other means as may be notified to the Customer from time to time. All such payments shall be made in full in immediately available and freely transferrable funds without set-off or counterclaim or any restriction or condition, free and clear of and without withholding or deduction of any taxes, charges or fees of any nature now or hereafter imposed or howsoever arising. If the Customer is or becomes required by Applicable Laws to make any such withholding or deduction from any payment, then the Customer shall pay to the Bank, in addition to the payment to which the Bank is otherwise entitled under any Transaction or Service, such additional amount as is necessary to ensure that the net amount actually received by the Bank will equal the full amount the Bank would have received had no such deduction or withholding been required.

- 8.3 The Customer shall be responsible for all risks and expenses in connection with any payment under any Transaction or Service. Any expenses in connection with the making of payments under any Transaction or Service will be paid by the Customer.
- 8.4 If, on any date, amounts are due and payable by each of the Bank and the Customer to the other in the same currency in respect of any one or more Transaction and/or Service, such amounts shall be automatically satisfied and discharged and only the net amount owing on that day shall be paid by the party owing the larger amount to the other party.
- 8.5 The Bank may charge interest in respect of any sums due to the Bank and unpaid at such rates as the Bank may determine until all such sums are fully paid, as well before as after judgment.
- 8.6 Any discharge of the obligations of the Customer or any Security Party by the Bank shall be deemed to be made subject to the condition that it will be void to the extent that any security, disposition or payment to the Bank by the Customer, such Security Party or any other person is set aside, avoided or reduced pursuant to any provision or enactment relating to the bankruptcy, liquidation, reorganisation or otherwise of the Customer, such Security Party or such other person (whether as an unfair preference or otherwise) or proves otherwise to have been invalid. In such event, the Customer and such Security Party shall make good to the Bank upon demand such amount as shall have been set aside, avoided or invalidated as aforesaid, and the Bank shall be entitled to enforce these indemnities against the Customer or such Security Party subsequently as if such discharge had not occurred.
- 8.7 In the event of any limitation on the use of funds or any unavailability or non-payment of funds due to Exchange restrictions, inconvertibility, governmental restriction or any other cause beyond the control of the Bank, the Bank may:
- 8.7.1 discharge its obligations by paying the Customer or to the Customer's order such funds at any time (whether before, on or after maturity), in any currency and in such manner as the Bank may determine in its discretion. For the purpose of this Clause 8.7.1, the funds shall be calculated at such exchange rate as the Bank may determine in its discretion; or
- 8.7.2 with notice to the Customer, take action to appoint a successor in another jurisdiction, transfer the Customer's assets to another jurisdiction, change the Governing Law(s) of this Agreement, terminate the Account, the provision of Services and/or Transactions (in the case of Structured Deposits, subject to Clause 8.1.1 of Section 1 of Part Two (D)) at the Customer's cost or take any other action that the Bank considers expedient.

- 9.3 The Customer acknowledges and agrees that a member of the Standard Chartered Group may receive remuneration, fees, benefit in-kind, soft commissions, trailer commissions, and other selling or placing commission (howsoever designated) ("Benefits") from any person arising out of or in connection with the operation of the Account, any Transaction or any provision of Services to the Customer (including representatives of any issuer of Securities or any other person whatsoever in respect of which it provides information to the Customer), and such member of the Standard Chartered Group is entitled to retain such Benefits for itself and shall have no obligation to account to the Customer for all or any part of such Benefits. A member of the Standard Chartered Group may also share charges and commission with its affiliates or third parties in respect of the Account, Transactions or Services.

10 CURRENCY

- 10.1 Save in the case of Structured Deposits, the Bank may without prior notice to the Customer, make any currency conversions it considers necessary or desirable for the purpose of complying with its obligations or exercising its rights under or in connection with this Agreement, the Account, any Transaction or Service. Any such conversions will be effected by it in such a manner and at such rates as it may at its discretion determine having regard to the prevailing rates for freely convertible currencies.

- 11.1 Collateral may be required by the Bank for the operation of the Account and/or certain Transactions or Services.
- 11.2 As security for the Liabilities, the Customer and/or Security Party shall maintain at all times sufficient Collateral as determined by the Bank in its discretion from time to time. The Bank may require, from time to time, additional Collateral to meet the requirements for security or collateral prescribed by the Bank from time to time (the "Collateral Requirement") for the operation of the Account and/or the relevant Transactions or Services.
- 11.3 Any such Collateral may be a combination of cash and/or securities or other forms of Collateral acceptable to the Bank in its discretion. Notwithstanding the foregoing, any discount formula applied or the acceptability of any Collateral may be changed at any time and from time to time at the Bank's discretion.

Without prejudice to the foregoing, if the Bank in its discretion deems appropriate, the Bank may (in addition to or instead of exercising, inter alia, its power of realisation aforesaid) require the Customer and/or the Security Party to deposit, within such time as the Bank thinks fit, additional Collateral acceptable to the Bank to meet the Collateral Requirement.
- 11.5 The Customer shall, and shall procure that each Security Party shall, immediately upon demand by the Bank and at the Customer's expense (including the payment of any legal charges and fees incurred by the Bank), make, execute, do and perform all such further assurances, instruments, acts or things as the Bank shall from time to time require to perfect, protect or enforce the Collateral or any part thereof and the Bank's title to the security thereby constituted or intended to be constituted by the Collateral, and to give effect to any of the rights conferred on the Bank, including any assignments and rights of subrogation.
- 11.6 The Customer shall not, and shall procure that the Security Party will not, sell, transfer, assign, encumber, pledge, create any mortgage or charge or other security interest (other than any security interest granted by the Customer in favour of the Bank and/or its Affiliates under this Agreement or otherwise) over, dispose of or otherwise deal with the Collateral or any part thereof or any interest therein. The Customer agrees that the Bank shall not be liable for any Losses due to or in connection with the restriction under this sub-clause on the Customer from doing any of the foregoing acts.
- 11.7 The Bank may, upon the enforcement of its rights, sell, dispose of, realise or otherwise deal with the Collateral as the Customer's agent or as mortgagee or pledgee thereof, as the case may be, as the Bank may at its discretion deem fit without incurring any liability whatsoever or howsoever.
- 11.8 Subject to the Applicable Laws the Customer grants the Bank the right to pledge, repledge, hypothecate, rehypothecate, invest or loan, either separately or with the property of other clients, to either itself as broker or to others, any Investment Products or other assets held by the Bank on margin for the Account or as Collateral thereof, without notice to the Customer and without any obligation to pay to the Customer, or to account to the Customer for, any interest, income, or benefit that may be derived therefrom.
- 11.9 Any Collateral provided by the Customer may, at the Bank's discretion, be regarded as meeting the Collateral Requirement in respect of more than one Transaction or Service at any time.

16.3 The Bank can treat any partner as having full authority to singly act or give any Instruction on the Customer's behalf and as an Authorised Person for the purpose of this Agreement until the Bank has received written notice of such person's retirement or resignation as a partner.

16.4 If the Bank receives Instructions from any one or more of the partners which, in the Bank's opinion, contradicts the Instructions of any other partner(s), the Bank will be entitled, upon notice being given to any one partner, to thereafter act only on the unanimous Instructions of all partners and/or take such action as the Bank deems fit.

- 22.2 The Customer shall from time to time on demand by or on behalf of the Bank, deposit and/or lodge with and/or transfer to the Bank (or as it may direct) all certificates or other documents evidencing title or any other documents relating to or connected with the Charged Assets, including without limitation, share or other certificates in respect of Securities together with duly executed instruments of transfer in blank or in favour of the Bank or such other person as it may direct.
- 22.3 During the continuance of the Charge, any withdrawal of the whole or any part of the Charged Assets by the Customer shall be subject to the approval of the Bank. The Charge may be discharged or released only upon the Bank’s prior written consent.
- 22.4 The Charge shall be a continuing security and shall remain in full force and effect until the Liabilities have been paid in full, notwithstanding the insolvency or liquidation or any incapability or change in the constitution or status of the Customer or any person or any intermediate settlement of account or other matter whatsoever. - 22.5 The Customer represents and undertakes that:
- 22.5.1 the Charged Assets are and shall remain in the sole beneficial ownership of the Customer free from all encumbrances and adverse interests;
 - 22.5.2 the Customer has full power, authority and legal right to grant the Charge in favour of the Bank and/or its Affiliates;
 - 22.5.3 the Charge constitutes legal, valid and binding obligations of the Customer enforceable in accordance with its terms;
 - 22.5.4 the Customer shall not be entitled to and will not withdraw nor attempt to encumber, transfer, assign or otherwise deal with or dispose of the Charged Assets except with the Bank’s prior written consent;
 - 22.5.5 the Customer will not take any action which might prejudice the effectiveness and enforceability of the Charge;
 - 22.5.6 upon demand from the Bank, the Customer shall deliver such further assets as shall be acceptable to the Bank for the purpose of further securing the Liabilities;
 - 22.5.7 the Charged Assets do not and will not include any property which the Customer is not able to validly and properly charge to the Bank and/or its Affiliates hereunder; and

- 22.7 In the event of the occurrence of any Event of Default specified in Clause 26, the Bank and any Affiliates shall be entitled to, without prior notice to the Customer, sell, realise, dispose of, or otherwise deal with, at their absolute discretion (but without being in any way responsible or liable for any Loss occasioned by the disposal), any of the Charged Assets and to deduct from the sale proceeds such amount as is necessary to pay, discharge and satisfy the Liabilities, indebtedness and expenses due and owing to the Bank and any Affiliates. - 22.8 The Charge may be enforced without the Bank first having recourse to any other security or rights or taking any other steps against the Customer or any other person.
- 22.9 A certificate made by any one or more of the officers of the Bank that a default has occurred and that the power of disposal has become exercisable shall be conclusive evidence of that fact in favour of any Purchaser. The Customer agrees to indemnify the Bank and its Affiliates on a full indemnity basis against any claim which may be made against the Bank or any of its Affiliates by any Purchaser by reason of any defect in title to such Charged Assets. "Purchaser" for the purposes of this Clause means such person to whom the Charged Assets are transferred pursuant to the disposal referred to in Clause 22.7 above.
- 22.10 Neither the Bank nor its Affiliates or Agents shall be liable to the Customer for any act, delay or failure to act on the part of the Bank and/or its Affiliates or Agents in respect of the Charge or the Charged Assets.
- 22.11 The Customer shall indemnify the Bank, and its Affiliates against all Losses incurred by him and/or any of them in respect of any matter or thing done or omitted relating in any way whatsoever to the Charge or the Charged Assets.

The Customer ratifies and confirms, and agrees to ratify and confirm, any deed, instrument, act or thing which the Bank may execute or do pursuant to this Clause 22.12.

- 22.13 Nothing in this Clause 22 shall restrict the operation of any general lien or other rights or lien whatsoever which the Bank or its Affiliates may be entitled to under the general law.

None of the Bank, its Affiliates, Agents and any director, officer, employee or agent of any of the foregoing (each, an "Indemnified Person") shall be liable for any Losses or for the acts of any Agent appointed by the Bank in good faith, or any other persons through whom Instructions are effected, save where the same arises directly from the Bank's gross negligence, wilful misconduct or fraud. Indemnified Persons shall be entitled to every exemption from liability, every defence and every indemnity to which the Bank is entitled save in the event of the Bank's gross negligence, wilful misconduct or fraud. Notwithstanding any provision of this Agreement, the Bank shall not at any time be liable for any indirect, special or consequential Losses, loss of profits, goodwill or reputation whether 25.2.4 any Event of Default or any demand notice being given in connection with any Event of Default, in each case, save for where the same arises directly from the Bank's gross negligence, wilful misconduct or fraud.

25.3 Without limiting the generality of Clause 25.2 above:

25.3.1 notwithstanding any other provision of this Agreement, the Bank shall have no responsibility in respect of the performance or outcome of any Investment Product, Transaction, or Service. The Customer acknowledges that past performance of any investment or class of investments is no indicator of future performance;

25.3.2 the Bank shall not be responsible for, nor have any liability for Losses attributable to, incorrect or incomplete information in any prospectus or other offering, transactional or marketing materials prepared or issued by third parties other than the Bank or derived from such third party materials; and

25.3.3 the Customer agrees to indemnify each Indemnified Person against any Losses arising from or as a result of acting on any Instruction or other communication received by the Bank by any means which the Bank reasonably believes to have been given by the Customer or on the Customer's behalf, and the Customer agrees to be bound by and ratify any Transaction entered into, Service provided or action taken by the Bank as the result of such Instruction or communication.

25.4 For the avoidance of doubt, this Clause 25 and all rights of the Bank hereunder shall apply and be available to each Indemnified Person regardless of whether the Losses or any part thereof were also caused by the Bank (other than Losses which result directly and solely from the Bank's gross negligence, wilful misconduct or fraud).

25.5 For the avoidance of doubt, this Clause 25 shall not be construed to limit the Bank's liability to a greater extent than permitted by Applicable Laws.

26 EVENTS OF DEFAULT AND TERMINATION

Events of Default

26.1 Each of the following shall, as determined by the Bank in good faith, be an "Event of Default":

- 26.1.1 the Customer or any Security Party fails to comply with any provisions of this Agreement or any other agreement between the Customer and any member of the Standard Chartered Group or any Services Document or Security Document (including failure to provide sufficient or acceptable Collateral or margin when requested);
- 26.1.2 the Customer or any Security Party fails to pay, or make any delivery to, the Bank or any other member of the Standard Chartered Group on the due date or on demand (as the case may be) any sums of money, or of any asset, outstanding in respect of the Liabilities;
- 26.1.3 the Customer or any Security Party has become insolvent or bankrupt, or generally fails or is unable to pay any of his debts as they mature; any action has been instituted or any step is taken by or against the Customer or any Security Party for the purpose of the Customer or any Security Party entering into winding-up, liquidation, judicial management, bankruptcy, any scheme or arrangement, or any similar arrangement under any bankruptcy or insolvency law; or any order has been made by any competent court or any resolution is passed or any step is taken for the appointment of a liquidator, receiver, custodian, executor, judicial manager, administrator or trustee of the whole or any part of the Customer's or any Security Party's assets or business; any warrant of attachment is issued or any step is taken for such issuance by any competent court in any jurisdiction against all or any part of the Customer's or any Security Party's assets or business; or the Customer or any Security Party has entered into or any step is taken for the entry by the Customer or any Security Party into any scheme or arrangement or composition with his creditors;
- 26.1.4 in the case where the Customer or any Security Party is an individual or a partnership, the Customer or any of the partners or any Security Party dies or becomes mentally incapacitated or suffers some other form of legal disability or a judicial declaration of incompetence is made in respect of the Customer or any of the partners or any Security Party;
- 26.1.5 in the Bank's opinion, a material adverse change occurs in the financial or other condition of the Customer or Security Party or any change in the operating environment or any event occurs or circumstances arise which causes the Bank to believe that the Customer or any Security Party may not (or may be unable to) perform or comply with any one or more of his or their obligations;
- 26.1.6 any representation or warranty made or deemed to be made by the Customer (including without limitation the representations and warranties in Clause 7.2 and Clause 17.4 above) or any Security Party to the Bank is incorrect or misleading;
- 26.1.7 the Bank reasonably believes that the Customer or someone else is using any Account, entering into any Transaction or utilising any Service illegally or has otherwise breached any Applicable Laws;
- 26.1.8 any Event of Default (as specified in any other Services Document) or any analogous event occurs as determined by the Bank in good faith;
- 26.1.9 any event of default (howsoever described) with respect to the Customer or Security Party under any agreement, mortgage, indenture or instrument entered into by the Customer or Secured Party with any party, which results in any of the Customer's or Secured Party's indebtedness or liability becoming or becoming capable of being declared due and payable before the date on which it would otherwise have become due and payable, or if the Customer or Secured Party fails to pay any amount under any such arrangement when it falls due or upon demand;

26.1.10 where the Bank determines in its discretion that the exercise by the Bank of any powers conferred by Clause 26.2 is necessary for compliance with any Applicable Laws;

26.1.11 where the Bank in its discretion deems that (i) a situation has arisen which causes the Bank to believe that the Customer may not (or may be unable to) perform or comply with any one or more of his obligations, or (ii) it is desirable or prudent for the Bank's own protection to take any action as referred to in Clause 26.2 below; and/or

26.1.12 any other matter or event arises including any legal or regulatory requirement, which in the Bank's discretion renders the triggering of an Event of Default necessary or advisable in the Bank's interests.

26.2 At any time after the occurrence of an Event of Default, the Bank may (but is not obliged to) with or without notice to the Customer do any one or more of the following in its absolute discretion:

26.2.1 terminate this Agreement;

26.2.2 suspend or terminate any Account and/or the provision of any of the Services to the Customer;

26.2.3 close out and unwind any outstanding Transaction (including without limitation exercising its rights to determine the Close-out Amount in accordance with Clause 26.5 below), unwind any Transaction and cancel any outstanding order or other commitments made on behalf of the Customer;

26.2.4 borrow or purchase any Securities or assets required to make delivery on behalf of the Customer; and

26.2.5 in any manner sell, realise, dispose of or otherwise deal with, in such manner as the Bank may determine in its discretion, any Charged Assets or other assets held on behalf of the Customer by the Bank, its Affiliates or Agents (whether in the possession of, or under the control or direction of, the Bank, its Affiliates or Agents), and to cover any potential or actual expenses, legal fees and or claims brought by the Customer or any third party against the Bank, its Affiliates or Agents in connection with the Account, Transactions or Services.

For the avoidance of doubt, the occurrence of an Event of Default or the Bank's exercise of the rights in this Clause 26.2 shall not in any way affect the rights of the Bank under Clause 8.6, Clause 21 and Clause 23 above and the security interest granted by the Customer in favour of the Bank and the Affiliates under Clause 22 above or any Security Document.

26.3 Upon the occurrence of any Event of Default, all Liabilities shall become immediately payable on demand, the Collateral and all other rights, powers and remedies of the Bank shall become immediately enforceable and the Bank shall become immediately entitled to exercise any and all of the same.

26.4 The Bank's obligations under this Agreement to make a payment or delivery is subject to the condition precedent that no Event of Default or Potential Event of Default with respect to the Customer has occurred and is continuing.

- 26.5 If an Event of Default has occurred, the Bank may (but is not obliged to) designate a close-out date (the “Close-out Date”). Upon the designation of a Close-out Date:
- 26.5.1 All Structured Deposits shall be terminated as of the Close-out Date (whether or not such Events of Default are continuing on that date).
- 26.5.2 A “Close-Out Amount”, if any, payable either by the Customer to the Bank or by the Bank to the Customer, as the case may be, will be payable on such date as the Bank shall determine after the Close-Out Date. The Close-out Amount will be determined by the Bank taking into account the following:
- (i) The Early Termination Amount (as defined in Section D of Part Two of this Agreement) for each outstanding Structured Deposit as of the Close-out Date or, if this would not be commercially reasonable, as of such date(s) as would, in the Bank’s sole opinion be commercially reasonable.
 - (ii) The amounts owing to each party as of the Close-out Date, being the aggregate of (a) the amounts that had become payable (or would have become payable) and (b) the amount(s) equal to the fair market value of each obligation which was deliverable (or would have been deliverable), each of which, but for the occurrence and/or continuance of an Event or Default or Potential Event of Default to such party on or before such Close-out Date and which remain unpaid or undelivered as at such Close-out Date.
- 26.5.3 The Customer agrees that the amounts recoverable under this Clause are a reasonable pre-estimate of loss and not a penalty and that the Customer will not be entitled to recover any additional damages as a consequence of such losses.
- 26.6 Notwithstanding Clauses 26.4 and 26.5, the Bank may at its absolute discretion elect to apply the net proceeds (after deduction of all fees, costs and expenses incurred in connection with the exercise of the powers hereinbefore conferred on the Bank) actually received by the Bank pursuant to the exercise of powers under Clause 26.2 in reduction of the Customer’s then outstanding Liabilities in such order or manner as the Bank considers fit.
- 26.7 The Customer hereby waives all claims and demands (if any) against the Bank in respect of any Loss, involuntary or otherwise, directly or indirectly arising from the exercise by the Bank of the powers conferred by the Agreement, howsoever such Loss may have been caused (other than through the gross negligence, wilful misconduct or fraud of the Bank), whether in relation to the timing or manner of the exercise of powers or otherwise.

Termination

- 26.8 Notwithstanding any other provision of this Agreement, the Bank may at any time and from time to time vary or terminate any or all of the Transactions or the Services (but not any Structured Deposit) for any reason (whether there is an Event of Default or not) without prior notice to the Customer and the Bank reserves the right to require the Customer to repay immediately all outstanding amounts owed to the Bank (as determined by the Bank) under such Transactions or Services which have been terminated. The Bank may in addition close any Account with immediate effect upon giving the Customer notice.
- 26.9 Unless otherwise provided in this Agreement, the Customer may terminate any Account, Transaction or Service (but not any Structured Deposit) upon giving the Bank prior written notice, provided such termination shall not discharge or affect any accrued, existing or contingent Liabilities and obligations of the Customer (including without limitation the obligation of the Customer to complete a Transaction or Service initiated prior to the date of termination).

- 26.10 Termination shall not terminate or affect any of the representations, warranties and indemnities made by the Customer under this Agreement.
- 26.11 The termination by the Customer or by the Bank of any of the Transactions, Services or Account provided pursuant to this Agreement shall not affect the provision of the remaining Transactions, Services and/or Account.

27 THE CUSTOMER'S RESPONSIBILITY

- 27.1 The Customer shall at all times exercise due care to prevent payment or other orders or instruments, Instructions, electronic aids, passwords, tests, codes or digital signatures from coming into the possession of unauthorised persons and to prevent alteration in a manner which may facilitate fraud or forgery. The Customer shall notify the Bank immediately on discovering that any such items have been stolen, lost, misappropriated or mislaid, but such notification shall not relieve the Customer from his liability to assume and bear the consequences of the same. It is the Customer's duty to ensure Instructions are clear, correct and intelligible, and that they have been received and/or read, as applicable, by the Bank's officer designated to deal with the Account, to enter into the Transaction or provide the Service.
- 27.2 The Customer undertakes to consult with the Customer's own independent legal, regulatory, tax, financial, accounting and other advisors to the extent the Customer deems necessary in respect of the Account, any Transaction or Service (or any Transaction or Service that the Customer proposes to enter into with or through the Bank).
- 27.3 The Customer shall be responsible for all taxes, duties and charges (including but not limited to tax reporting and withholding obligations) of any kind arising pursuant to the Account, Transactions or Services conducted with or through the Bank. For the avoidance of doubt, in no event shall the Bank or any of its Affiliates and Agents or any director, officer, employee or agent of any of the foregoing be liable for any adverse tax implications in respect of the Account, any Transaction or Service.

28 RISK DISCLOSURE

- 28.1 The Customer accepts all risks arising from its opening and maintenance of the Account, the entry into of any Transactions and the acceptance of any Services. The Customer's attention is drawn to and the Customer acknowledges that he has read and fully understood the Risk Disclosure Statement and all documents referred to therein. By opening and maintaining the Account, in accepting any Services and/or entering into any Transactions, the Customer acknowledges that he has made his own assessment and has relied on his own judgement.

29 AMENDMENT

- 29.1 The Bank may vary or amend this Agreement and any Services Document and any Security Document at any time at the Bank's discretion by notifying the Customer of such variations or amendments at the address provided by the Customer to the Bank or by such other means as the Bank may deem fit. Any such variation or amendment shall take effect from such date as the Bank shall stipulate or, in the absence of express stipulation, upon notice being given to the Customer, without the need for any further consent or agreement by the Customer and shall be binding on the Customer even if the Customer has not received the notification from the Bank.

30 NOTICES AND COMMUNICATIONS

30.1 Without prejudice to any other effective mode of dispatch, any report, statement, written confirmation, notice, demand or any other communication from the Bank to the Customer shall be deemed to have been sufficiently dispatched, given or made if:

30.1.1 left by personal delivery addressed to the Customer, at the address last known to the Bank at the time of delivery;

30.1.2 by prepaid post similarly addressed, five days after posting;

30.1.3 communicated or transmitted to the Customer by telephone, telex, cable, telegraph or facsimile transmission at the respective numbers last known to the Bank, at the time of communication/transmission; and

30.1.4 communicated by e-mail, on the date and time of transmission by the e-mail server operated by the Bank and/or its service provider, notwithstanding any non-delivery or "returned mail" reply message or any error message indicating that the e-mail was not successfully sent to the Customer's mailbox. The Customer will bear the risk of any non-delivery of e-mails from the Bank.

30.2 Any communication from the Customer to the Bank shall only be effective upon actual receipt thereof by the Bank.

30.3 All notices and other communication sent by the Bank to the Customer or vice versa are to be sent at the Customer's risk, and the Bank does not assume any responsibility for any inaccuracy, interruption, error or delay or total failure in transmission or delivery by any form of communication or other cause beyond the control or anticipation of the Bank. The Bank shall not be obliged to preserve any documents which may be returned undelivered.

31 MISCELLANEOUS

31.1 Assignment: The Customer shall not in any way encumber, charge, declare a trust over, assign or transfer all or any of his Liabilities, rights, interest or benefit in or to any Account, Service or Transaction or any assets kept in the custody of the Bank, or any Agent without the Bank's prior written consent. The Customer hereby agrees that the Bank may assign and transfer all or any of its rights and obligations under any Account, Service or Transaction to any person at the Bank's discretion and without the need for any further consent or agreement on the part of the Customer. This Agreement shall be binding and enure to the benefit of the Bank and the Customer and their respective successors-in-title and permitted assigns, and shall continue to be binding on the Customer notwithstanding:

31.1.1 any change in name or constitution of the Bank; or

31.1.2 any consolidation or amalgamation of the Bank into or with any other entity. In the event of such consolidation or amalgamation, such entity shall be substituted for the Bank in relation to this Agreement, all written confirmations and all assets placed with the Bank, and this Agreement and all written confirmations, correspondence, acknowledgements, directions, instructions and authorisations shall continue in full force and effect as between the Customer and such entity.

- 31.2 Destruction of documents: The Bank may in its discretion destroy any cheques or other records and documents relating to any Account, Service or Transaction after the same have been processed by microfilm or any other form of electronic media. Production of the microfilm or other form of electronic media shall be binding on and shall be conclusive evidence against the Customer. The Bank may destroy any records after the retention period required by law.
- 31.3 Monitoring of correspondence: The Customer agrees that all telephone conversations and electronic message correspondence (including electronic message correspondence delivered by e-mail and instant messaging services) between the Bank or an Affiliate and the Customer may be recorded and may, to the fullest extent permitted by Applicable Laws, be used as conclusive evidence of the content of the calls or electronic messages and will be admissible in evidence in any proceedings. The Customer waives any right to challenge or dispute the admissibility, reliability, accuracy or the authenticity of the contents of such records.
- 31.4 Severability: If any of this Agreement is or becomes illegal, invalid or unenforceable in any respect, the legality, validity or enforceability of the remaining provisions shall not be affected or impaired.
- 31.5 Time of the essence: The Customer agrees that time shall be of the essence in respect of his responsibilities and Liabilities in all matters arising under this Agreement.
- 31.6 No waiver of rights: No indulgence or forbearance granted by the Bank, no failure to exercise and no delay in exercising on the part of the Bank of any right, power or privilege hereunder shall operate as a waiver thereof nor shall any single or partial exercise of such right, power or privilege preclude any other or further exercise thereof or the exercise of any other right, power or privilege.
- 31.7 Remedies cumulative: Any rights and remedies of the Bank under this Agreement are cumulative and are not exclusive of any rights or remedies provided by law.
- 31.8 Successors: The Customer's rights and obligations under this Agreement shall be binding on the Customer's heirs and successors, subject to Clause 31.1.
- 31.9 Signing Authority: The Customer hereby authorises the Bank to sign on behalf of the Customer and in the name of the Customer any customer agreement or other document to enable or better enable the Bank to carry out the Instructions, to operate the Account, to enter into Transactions and/or to provide Services.
- 31.10 Standard Chartered Bank's intellectual property: The Customer will not use the "Standard Chartered Bank" name, logo or trademark or any other intellectual property belonging to the Standard Chartered Group for marketing or publicity purposes without the prior written consent of the Bank.
- 31.11 Conclusive evidence: For all purposes, including without limitation, any legal proceedings against the Customer, a certificate by any of the Bank's officers as to any amount due from the Customer to the Bank or as to any other determination, notification or opinion or the like of the Bank shall, in the absence of manifest error, be binding and conclusive evidence.
- 31.12 Governing law and jurisdiction: This Agreement and all relations between the parties shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the Governing Law. Any legal action or proceedings in connection with the Agreement, or any dispute thereunder, may be brought in the courts of Brunei and the Customer irrevocably submits to the jurisdiction of the Brunei courts. The Bank reserves the right to institute proceedings in the Customer's domicile or in any other appropriate jurisdiction.

PART TWO PRODUCT/SERVICE TERMS

A. Securities dealing

NOTE: THIS PART TWO A ONLY APPLIES TO CUSTOMERS WHO HAVE PURCHASED SECURITIES THROUGH THE BANK PRIOR TO 25 JULY 2016 AND HAVE YET TO TRANSFER SUCH SECURITIES TO STANDARD CHARTERED SECURITIES (B) SDN BHD.

WHERE A SECURITY IS A COLLECTIVE INVESTMENT SCHEME, IF THERE IS ANY INCONSISTENCY BETWEEN THE PROVISIONS OF SECTION A OF PART TWO OF THIS AGREEMENT AND SECTION C OF PART TWO OF THIS AGREEMENT, THE LATTER WILL PREVAIL.

1 Instructions

- 1.1 The Customer may instruct the Bank and the Bank may on the Customer's behalf purchase, sell and/or otherwise deal in Securities subject (if applicable) to the rules of the relevant Exchange, clearing house or depository or customs and the right of the Bank under Clause 5.6 of Part One of this Agreement.
- 1.2 Any Instruction for dealing in Securities shall only be accepted if it is received before such cut off time as the Bank may from time to time prescribe. Where for whatever reason such Instruction has not been executed (or any unexecuted part of any such Instruction in the case of a partially executed Instruction), it shall be deemed to lapse at the expiry of the trading date specified in any such Instruction. Any Instruction for dealing in Securities for execution on the date of the Instruction must also be received before any relevant cut-off time in respect of any relevant Exchange or market, as determined by the Bank. All other Instructions shall be given so as to allow the Bank sufficient time within which to comply.
- 1.3 The Customer shall provide additional information as may be required under any such documents signed by the Bank on the Customer's behalf. Failure to provide such information may, among other things, lead to an Instruction not being effected or, where relevant, may cause the redemption of an investment or suspension of redemption rights of an investment.

2 Transactions

Nature of Relationship

- 2.1 Unless the Bank notifies the Customer otherwise:
- 2.1.1 in respect of Transactions in Securities which are bonds, securitised structured products such as notes, warrants or certificates or such other Securities as notified to the Customer from time to time, the Bank will transact with the Customer as principal; and
- 2.1.2 in respect of Transactions in Securities other than Securities which are bonds, securitised structured products such as notes, warrants or certificates or such other Securities as notified to the Customer from time to time, the Bank will act as the Customer's execution agent in effecting such Transactions (notwithstanding that the Bank may be deemed to be transacting as principal under the rules or regulations of the relevant Exchange or clearing house).

The Customer acknowledges and agrees that the Bank owes no fiduciary or other equitable duties to the Customer with respect to Transactions.

Execution

- 2.2 The Bank will execute orders for Transactions in Securities on the Customer's behalf, at the Customer's risk and upon the Customer's specific Instructions, provided that the Bank is prepared at its discretion to transact such Securities.
- 2.3 The Bank may, on the Customer's Instructions, effect Transactions in Securities on any market or with such counterparty, negotiate and execute counterparty and account opening documentation on the Customer's behalf.
- 2.4 Without limiting the generality of Clause 5.6 of Part One of this Agreement:
- 2.4.1 the Bank may refuse to carry out an Instruction to deal in Securities if there are insufficient monies held in cleared funds or due to be received to the credit of the Account to meet any purchase price (or any other amount payable by the Customer under the relevant Transaction) together with any estimated expenses to be incurred in connection with the relevant Transaction. Where the Customer has placed several orders or Instructions and there are insufficient monies or available credit facilities to meet the resulting obligations, the Bank may in its discretion decide which of the orders or Instructions will be executed, irrespective of the order in which, or dates on which the Bank received them. The Bank shall be entitled to debit any account that the Customer has opened with the Bank with the amount payable for any Transaction in Securities on or (at the Bank's discretion) at any time before the settlement date; and
- 2.4.2 the Bank may refuse to carry out any Instruction to sell or deliver any Securities if insufficient Securities are held in or for the Account or are due to be credited to the Account under any purchase transactions. The Bank will only place orders for the sale of Securities provided such Securities are in the Account free of all liens and other encumbrances whatsoever. On receipt of any Instruction to sell the Securities, the Bank shall be entitled to debit any account that the Customer has opened with the Bank with the relevant Security on or (at the Bank's discretion) at any time before completion of the said sale. The Customer acknowledges that the Customer shall not be entitled to withdraw or in any way deal with all or any part of such Securities until completion of the said sale.
- 2.5 The Customer should note that certain products (including collective investment schemes and securitised structured products) may have deadlines for making subscriptions, redemptions or withdrawals and that the Bank may also need to comply with its own internal deadlines for taking such actions for customers. When giving the Bank Instructions in relation to such products, the Customer should ensure that he allows reasonable time for the Bank to process his Instructions and communicate them to the product provider in order to meet the relevant deadlines. The Bank will not be liable for any failure to meet a deadline for any reason (whether clear instructions are not received from the Customer within a reasonable time prior to the deadline or otherwise) except where such failure is directly due to the Bank's gross negligence, wilful misconduct or fraud. In relation specifically to payment orders, the Bank sets cut-off times by which instructions must be received by the Bank on a working day in order for the Bank to process them on the same day. All other instructions shall be given so as to allow the Bank sufficient time within which to process the Customer's instructions.

2.6 The Customer agrees that:

- 2.6.1 the Bank may aggregate any order received from the Customer with the Bank's own orders or with the orders of any Affiliate or with those of the Bank's other customers, and the Customer acknowledges that such aggregation may on some occasions operate to the Customer's disadvantage and on other occasions to the Customer's advantage;
- 2.6.2 the Bank may execute any order received from the Customer in a series of Transactions in Securities over a period of time and report to the Customer an average price for such Transactions in the series instead of the actual price for each Transaction;
- 2.6.3 the Bank or an Affiliate may from time to time at the request of the Customer guarantee the execution quantity and prices of certain Transactions in Securities based on an agreed market reference price and the Customer agrees and acknowledges that in such circumstances regardless of whether the actual executions, in respect of the entirety of the Transactions, could have achieved a price more favourable to the Customer than the guaranteed price, the Customer will only be entitled to the guaranteed price and accordingly any amount, benefit, advantage or profit over and above such guaranteed price shall pass to the Bank or its Affiliates for its respective account; and
- 2.6.4 without limitation to Clause 5.5 of Part One of this Agreement, if the Customer chooses to withdraw any order before execution is completed (and notwithstanding that the Bank did not inform the Customer that the Customer's order has been partially executed), the Customer shall remain liable for all Transactions in Securities which were done for the Account until the Bank accepts the Customer's withdrawal.

Trading/Position Limits

- 2.7 The Customer undertakes to comply with any trading restrictions or position limits under Applicable Laws, including those imposed by any relevant Exchange or market or clearing house, and irrespective of whether the Customer trades through one or more banks or brokers. If any such trading restriction or position limit is exceeded, the Bank is authorised to disclose the Customer's identity and its positions, and/or liquidate any of the Customer's positions, if the Bank is requested to do so by any regulatory authority, Exchange, market or clearing house. The Bank may, upon request and the payment by the Customer of relevant processing fees, provide the Customer with information with respect to any of the Customer's positions.
- 2.8 In addition to any trading restrictions or position limits under Applicable Laws, the Bank may, at any time in its discretion, impose upon the Customer any position or transaction limits, or any trading or transaction restrictions. Such limits may include minimum sizes for transactions, specified times or procedures for communicating orders to the Bank or otherwise. The Bank may, at any time in its discretion, vary any such limits or restrictions. No previous limit or restriction shall set a precedent or bind the Bank. In placing orders with the Bank, the Customer shall not exceed any such limits or breach any such restrictions, whether imposed by the Bank, any relevant Exchange or market or clearing house or otherwise imposed under Applicable Laws.

Settlement

- 2.9 The Customer acknowledges that the Bank's sole responsibility with regard to the proceeds of any sale of Securities pursuant to Instructions or any authority otherwise conferred on the Bank is to receive payment by way of cheque, bank draft or any other appropriate form of such proceeds from the purchaser (or its agent) of the relevant Securities, provided that the Bank will not be liable to pay to the Customer any such proceeds of sale or be liable to the Customer in any other way if such payment to the Bank by any purchaser (or its agent) is not honoured by the banker upon whom that payment is drawn or otherwise not good and valid payment by that purchaser. The Customer further acknowledges that the Bank may make delivery of the relevant Securities contemporaneously with the receipt of such payment or purported payment in any case.
- 2.10 If the Bank or its correspondent broker shall for any reason whatsoever and howsoever fail to receive payment of all or any part of any amount due to be paid, or fail to receive delivery of any Securities (whether from the relevant Exchange, clearing house, and/or any other person) due to be delivered to the Customer, in respect of any sale or purchase entered into by the Bank or its correspondent broker (as the case may be) on behalf of the Customer on the due date for payment or delivery in accordance with the rules and regulations of the relevant Exchange or clearing house and/or any Applicable Laws, the Bank's obligations to make payment or to deliver Securities to the Customer in respect of such sale or purchase shall at such time, and by virtue of such failure, become obligations to make payment of such amount or delivery of such quantity of such Securities as is equal to such payment or such quantity as is actually received by the Bank or its correspondent broker (as the case may be) in respect thereof.
- 2.11 If the Bank credits the Account with the receipt of investments, cash or other assets before their actual receipt, the Bank may reverse such credit at any time before actual receipt.
- 2.12 The Bank may debit the Account with investments, cash or other assets on or before the date they are due to be transferred to a third party even though actual settlement has not yet occurred. The Bank may reverse such debit at any time before actual settlement.
- 2.13 The Customer accepts that he may not rely on any such debit or credit referred to at Clause 2.11 and Clause 2.12 above until actual settlement. The procedures described at Clause 2.11 and Clause 2.12 above are of an administrative nature and do not amount to an agreement by the Bank to make loans or investments available to the Customer.

3 Cessation of Trading

The Customer acknowledges and agrees that the Bank shall cease trading on behalf of the Customer in the event that the Bank is notified that the Customer's account with any member of the relevant Exchange on which a Transaction in Securities is executed has been classified as a delinquent or disputed account.

4 Limitation of Liabilities and Indemnities

- 4.1 The Customer retains full responsibility for making all investment decisions to buy or sell or otherwise deal in the Securities and will not hold the Bank liable for any Losses as a result of the Customer's investment or dealing.

- 4.2 The Customer acknowledges that the Customer will be liable and that the Bank shall have no responsibility for any liabilities in respect of unpaid calls or any other sums, costs or expenses payable in respect of any Securities held by the Bank on the Customer's behalf.
- 4.3 The Customer agrees and acknowledges that the Bank shall not be liable to the Customer for any Loss arising in whatever manner directly or indirectly from, or as a result of, any act or omission of or delay by the seller/issuer (or its agent) of the Securities to make valid or timely delivery of the relevant Securities to the Bank, or as the case may be, effect valid or timely payments/payouts to the Bank.
- 4.4 The Bank shall act on Instructions as soon as reasonably possible but shall not be liable for any Losses suffered by the Customer (including any Loss suffered or incurred as a result of any change in the price of any Security or other assets between the time of giving or receipt of any instruction to or by the Bank and the time at which any such Instruction is acted on) by virtue of any delay in acting on any Instruction or any partial completion of or failure or inability to act on any Instruction for whatever reason (including any failure or error of any computer or electronic system or equipment).
- 4.5 Where any jurisdiction restricts foreign ownership of Securities, the Bank shall have no duty to ascertain the nationality of the owner of the Securities or whether Securities deposited or received by the Customer are approved for foreign ownership.
- 4.6 The Customer shall indemnify the Bank and keep the Bank indemnified in full against any Loss of any kind or nature whatsoever which may be made against the Bank by a purchaser or any other person by reason of any defect in the Customer's title (or lack thereof) to any of the Securities or by reason of any of the Securities not being genuine.

5 Security Interest

The Customer agrees and acknowledges that (apart from the Bank's Charge and right of set-off as set out in the Agreement), any Agent appointed by the Bank as nominee or sub-custodian may claim a security interest over any of the Customer's Securities held by it.

B. Custody services

NOTE: THIS PART TWO B ONLY APPLIES TO CUSTOMERS WHO HAVE PURCHASED SECURITIES THROUGH THE BANK PRIOR TO 25 JULY 2016 AND HAVE YET TO TRANSFER SUCH SECURITIES TO STANDARD CHARTERED SECURITIES (B) SDN BHD.

1 Provision of Custody Services

- 1.1 Unless agreed otherwise, the Bank shall be responsible for the safekeeping of all Securities held in the Account including all Securities that the Customer acquires through the Bank hereunder (including holding any cash) (“Custody Property”) and the settlement on the Customer’s behalf of any dealings in Securities.
- 1.2 No Custody Property may be deposited with the Bank for custody unless it is:
- 1.2.1 beneficially owned by the Customer and registered in the Customer’s name; or
 - 1.2.2 accompanied by such transfer documents and/or Instructions as the Bank may require to transfer the beneficial ownership to the Customer.

2 Scope of Authority

- 2.1 The Customer authorises the Bank, and the Bank may (but is not obliged to) exercise the following powers (whether directly or by or through the Agents) in the Bank’s discretion without prior reference or notice to the Customer:
- 2.1.1 to surrender any of the Custody Property against receipt of monies payable at maturity or on redemption if called prior to maturity or against other Custody Property delivered upon any exchange of Custody Property;
 - 2.1.2 where monies are payable in respect of any of the Custody Property in more than one currency, to collect them in such currency as may be permissible by Applicable Laws and as the Bank may in its discretion determine;
 - 2.1.3 where monies are payable in respect of any of the Custody Property in any currency, to carry out any foreign exchange transaction at the prevailing rates of the Bank or its Agents to convert such foreign currency to the currency of the Account and to make any necessary withholding or deduction as may be required by applicable law;
 - 2.1.4 to consolidate any odd lots of Securities held by the Customer with securities of other Customers in order to qualify for any rights offered in respect of a specified block of securities and at the Bank’s discretion to take up, call for, receive, hold and sell any shares or rights accruing by reason of such consolidation;
 - 2.1.5 to exchange any of the Securities in interim or temporary form for securities in definitive form and (where applicable) to deliver the physical scrips to a central depository or other similar system set up for the purpose of scripless trading;
 - 2.1.6 at the Bank’s discretion, to take up, call for, receive, hold, sell, or dispose of fractional shares which may accrue from the holding of the Securities without limiting the generality of any other provision in this Agreement;
 - 2.1.7 to charge the Customer a gross commission (including any commission charged by an Agent) for any of the above services provided that the Bank shall not be liable in any way whatsoever for any act, default, omission or failure of any Agent;

2.1.8 in the case of scripless Securities, to deposit the Custody Property with, and hold the Custody Property through, any centralised securities depository, clearing house or securities depository agencies on such terms as such systems customarily operate, and to effect the purchase or sale or transfer of such Securities through the Account or any account of the Bank's custodian or nominee maintained with any centralised securities depository or other similar system set up for the purpose of scripless trading; and

2.1.9 to take any action as the Bank thinks fit including:

- (i) any act which the Bank determines to be necessary to preserve the integrity of the Custody Property and/or to protect the Customer's interests and the Bank's interests; and
- (ii) splitting of the Securities into marketable lots to enable delivery of the Securities and certificates evidencing the Securities.

2.2 The Bank shall be entitled to appoint, without the further consent of the Customer, any bank, trust company or member firm of any Exchange or market or clearing house or any other person (whether as a member of the Standard Chartered Group or any third party) to act as a sub-custodian or nominee (each, a "Nominee") of any of the Custody Property on such terms as the Bank may, in its discretion, consider appropriate, and to pay the fees, costs, commissions and other expenses of such Nominee. The Bank shall exercise reasonable care in the appointment of any Nominee. The Nominee in turn shall be entitled to appoint, without the further consent of the Customer, any other person to act as sub-custodian or nominee of the Custody Property.

2.3 The Bank shall be authorised but shall not be obliged to register the Custody Property and hold the same in its own name and/or in the name of a Nominee, or any other nominee or sub-custodian, and/or to deliver the Custody Property to any authority as now or hereafter required by Applicable Laws on the Customer's behalf. The Bank may delay in procuring any such registration or delivery for such period as the Bank in its discretion thinks fit. The Customer shall sign and execute all instruments of transfer and other documents and give all such instruments and things that may be required by the Bank or any Nominee in its dealings with the Custody Property.

2.4 Securities which are traded exclusively or primarily outside the jurisdiction where the Account is opened ("Home Jurisdiction") may, where the Bank considers appropriate, be held in custody abroad or, if they are delivered elsewhere, shall be transferred, at the Customer's sole risk and expense. Securities held in custody outside of the Home Jurisdiction are subject to the Applicable Laws of the relevant overseas jurisdiction. Consequently such Securities may not enjoy the same protection as that conferred on Securities held in custody in the Home Jurisdiction.

2.5 Where the Customer has instructed the Bank to open additional sub-accounts for the Customer, the Bank reserves the right not to do so in its discretion and/or to transfer Custody Property between such sub-accounts.

3 Segregation/Pooling

3.1 The Bank shall, or shall procure that a Nominee shall, keep a separate record in its books of all Custody Property received and held by it from time to time for the Customer's account and shall arrange for all Custody Property to be held in safe custody in such manner and in such name as the Bank may in its discretion determine. Custody of the Custody Property may be held on the basis that it is capable of being separately identified as belonging to or being attributed to the relevant Customer or otherwise (as solely determined by the Bank or a Nominee).

3.2 If custody is held on the basis that it is not capable of being so separately identified, the Custody Property will be pooled, such that any Custody Property which in the opinion of the Bank is of the same nature or category are held together on a commingled basis. In this situation:

3.2.1 the Customer's interest in the Custody Property may not be identifiable by separate certificates, or other physical documents or equivalent electronic records;

3.2.2 in the event of an irreconcilable shortfall after the default of the Bank, any Nominee or their respective sub-custodians, nominees or agents, the Customer may not receive the Customer's full entitlement and may share in that shortfall pro-rata among the Bank's other customers or those of the sub-custodian;

3.2.3 any distribution of entitlements to any benefits or entitlements arising as a result of corporate action will be allocated pro rata provided that (i) fractions of entitlements that arise as a result of this process will be rounded down to the nearest whole unit or share and (ii) the accumulated amount of any undistributed entitlements arising as a result of this process will be sold and the proceeds allocated on a pro rata basis;

3.2.4 where there is an allocation or share issue with rights weighted towards smaller investors, the Customer's allocation may be less than it otherwise would have been; and

3.2.5 the Bank or the relevant Nominee shall maintain a record of the Customer's interest in the Custody Property.

Corporate Actions/Voting rights

3.3 The Bank shall not be required to inform the Customer of the dates on which any shareholders' or bondholders' meetings in respect of any Custody Property will be held, nor of the items on the agendas of such meetings, nor of any notices, proxies or proxy soliciting materials in relation to the Custody Property. The Bank shall not be required to attend any such shareholders' or bondholders' meetings. In addition, the Bank shall not be obliged to forward to the Customer, after receipt by the Bank, of any letters, notices, circulars, reports and announcements relating to any Custody Property.

3.4 To the extent relevant, the Bank shall not exercise any voting rights attached to any Custody Property, either directly or through a proxy designated by the Customer, unless the Customer has given, and the Bank has accepted, Instructions to this effect.

4 Payments and distributions

4.1 The Bank shall claim all amounts in respect of interests, dividends (whether in cash or in other form of payment) and other payments or distributions pertaining to the Custody Property held in custody which are known to the Bank to be payable. Such amounts, payments or distributions shall be paid or delivered to the Customer as and when they are actually received by the Bank, but the Bank shall not be responsible for claiming any other distribution or entitlement or benefit the Customer may have on the Customer's behalf, or for taking up or exercising any conversion rights, subscription rights or other rights of any nature attached to or arising from the Custody Property.

- 4.2 The Bank may execute in the Customer's name whenever the Bank deems it appropriate such documents and other certificates as may be required to obtain the payment of income from the Custody Property or the sale thereof.

5 Reports and Valuations

The Bank will send to the Customer a report and valuation of Custody Property held by the Bank each month. In preparing the reports and valuations the Bank will use the most up-to-date information available to the Bank or its Agents from sources reasonably believed to be reliable. However, the Bank accepts no liability for any Loss arising from inaccuracies in the data provided to the Bank or its Agents except to the extent it arises as a result of the Bank's own gross negligence, wilful misconduct or fraud. Variations in market conditions will mean that the prices shown in the statements do not necessarily reflect realisable values.

6 Legal/Administrative proceedings

The Customer does not intend to be a party to legal or administrative proceedings in which the Customer may have an interest as the holder of Securities and the Bank shall therefore not provide the Customer with any information about such proceedings unless specifically instructed to do so. The Bank shall not be a party to such proceedings in any capacity whatsoever.

7 Security Interest

For the avoidance of doubt, any Custody Property held by the Bank or the Nominee as custodian shall be subject to the Bank's rights under Clause 23 of Part One of this Agreement, the Charge under Clause 22 of Part One of this Agreement, and may also be subject to other similar rights or security interests of the Bank under other agreements between the Bank and the Customer.

8 No interest

The Bank will not pay any interest to the Customer on any Custody Property held in custody regardless of the rate of interest (if any) paid by any third party sub-custodian or nominee or bank at which such Custody Property may be deposited or held. The Bank may, in its discretion, from time to time, pay interest to the Customer but any such payment of interest shall not oblige the Bank to continue making such payments on any other occasion.

9 Limitations of Liabilities

- 9.1 The Bank shall not be liable or responsible for any act or omission of, or any insolvency fraud, default, negligence or dissolution of, any such Nominee or any of its officers, employees, servants or agents in connection with the Custody Property in its custody and any Losses which the Customer may suffer or incur arising from or in connection therewith. The Bank may accept for safe custody such other Securities that are delivered by the Customer provided they are delivered at the Customer's own risk and the Bank has discretion not to accept or to return any Securities which are not acceptable to it in such manner as it sees fit.

- 9.2 The Customer acknowledges that prior to the Bank becoming the registered owner of the Custody Property, the Bank may not be in a position to carry out all of its obligations as custodian under this Agreement, and the Bank shall not be liable for any loss that the Customer may suffer or incur as a result of the Bank not being the registered owner.
- 9.3 The Bank shall have no duty or responsibility to return to the Customer Securities or other Custody Property bearing serial numbers identical with those delivered to the Bank so long as the Securities or other Custody Property returned are of the same class, denomination and nominal amount and rank pari passu with those accepted by the Bank, subject always to any capital re-organisation or adjustment or exchange which may have occurred.
- 9.4 The Customer agrees that any and all Custody Property held by or deposited with the Bank, any Nominee or their respective sub-custodians, nominees or agents is at the Customer's sole risk.

10 Termination of Custody Services

- 10.1 The Bank may in its discretion terminate the custody services at any time, in which case the following shall apply:
- 10.1.1 the Customer shall arrange for the transfer of the Custody Property from the Bank to the Customer or some other person designated by the Customer in writing; and
- 10.1.2 if the Customer fails to complete such arrangements, the Bank (at the cost of the Customer) may transfer or redeem all of the Custody Property held in such manner as the Bank may think fit and the Customer irrevocably authorises the Bank to give necessary instructions to third parties on behalf of the Customer to execute documents and to do all such other things as the Bank shall deem fit in its discretion and pay the realisation proceeds (with any costs and expenses incurred by the Bank deducted) to the Customer by crediting to the Account. In this case, the Bank shall not be liable for any Losses incurred or suffered by the Customer.

The provisions set out in this Part Two D shall govern all Structured Deposits entered into between the Customer and the Bank. The Customer confirms that he has read and understood the Risk Disclosure Statement set out in Part Three. The Customer acknowledges and confirms that, in entering into a Structured Deposit, neither the Bank, its Affiliates or their respective employees have made any recommendation or given any advice as to the terms and profitability of the Structured Deposit and the Customer has not relied on any communication as such recommendation or advice, unless otherwise expressly agreed between the Bank or its Affiliates and the Customer.

A Structured Deposit may be a Currency-Linked Structured Deposit, a Commodity-Linked Structured Deposit, an Index-Linked Structured Deposit, an Equity-Linked Structured Deposit, an interest rate-linked Structured Deposit or a combination of any of the foregoing as specified in the applicable Confirmation. The provisions in Section 1, unless otherwise provided in the applicable Confirmation, apply to all Structured Deposits. 1.2 Inconsistencies

1.2.1 In the event of any inconsistency between the provisions of Section 1 and any provision in Section 2 to Section 5 (as applicable), Section 2 to Section 5 (as applicable) will prevail.

1.2.2 In the event of any inconsistency between the provisions of this Part Two D and any provision in the applicable Confirmation, the Confirmation will prevail.

1.3 Confirmation

1.3.1 The Bank will take reasonable efforts to, as soon as practicable after the specific terms of a Structured Deposit have been agreed, issue and send to the Customer a Confirmation in respect of the Structured Deposit, setting out such terms. For the avoidance of doubt, failure to send a Confirmation shall not affect the validity of a Structured Deposit.

- 1.3.2 Unless the Customer objects in writing to the terms contained in the Confirmation within 10 SD Business Days of the date of the Confirmation, the terms of the Confirmation shall be deemed correct and accepted by the Customer absent manifest error. For the avoidance of doubt, the terms of the Structured Deposit as set out in the Confirmation are final, conclusive and binding on the Customer.

2 Principal Amount for Structured Deposits

2.1 Payment of the Principal Amount

The Principal Amount must be received by the Bank on or before the Start Date for the Structured Deposit. Once the Principal Amount has been received for the Structured Deposit, it may not be withdrawn (wholly or partially) nor can the Structured Deposit be terminated by the Customer prior to the Maturity Date except in accordance with Section 1 (Clause 4) below.

2.2 Acceptance of the Principal Amount

The Bank reserves the right, in its sole and absolute discretion, on or before the Start Date of a Structured Deposit, not to accept any funds received (or to accept only part of such funds) as the Principal Amount for the Structured Deposit. If the Bank does not accept any part of such funds as the Principal Amount, the Bank will notify the Customer as soon as practicable and any funds received but not accepted as the Principal Amount will be repaid to the Customer.

3 Coupons

3.1 Accrual of Coupons

If the applicable Confirmation for a Structured Deposit specifies coupons as being applicable, unless otherwise provided in the applicable Confirmation, coupons shall accrue (if any) from (and including) the Start Date. The term of such Structured Deposit will be divided into one or more Coupon Period(s), and the Coupon Amount (as defined below) for each Coupon Period will be payable in arrears on the Coupon Payment Date corresponding to the relevant Coupon Period.

3.2 Coupon Payment Date

If any Coupon Payment Date falls on a day which is not a SD Business Day, then the Coupon Payment Date will be adjusted in accordance with the business day convention specified in the applicable Confirmation (the "Business Day Convention"). When the Business Day Convention specified is:

- 3.2.1 the "Following Business Day Convention", such Coupon Payment Date shall be postponed to the next day which is a SD Business Day;
- 3.2.2 the "Modified Following Business Day Convention", such Coupon Payment Date shall be postponed to the next day which is a SD Business Day unless it would thereby fall into the next calendar month, in which event such Coupon Payment Date shall be brought forward to the immediately preceding SD Business Day; or 3.2.3 the “Preceding Business Day Convention”, such Coupon Payment Date shall be brought forward to the immediately preceding SD Business Day.

If the applicable Confirmation does not specify a Business Day Convention, the Business Day Convention shall be Modified Following Business Day Convention.

3.3 Coupon Rates

In respect of a Coupon Period, the Coupon Rate applicable to the Coupon Period will be determined by the Calculation Agent in the manner below. Unless otherwise provided in the applicable Confirmation, if the Coupon Rate is a negative number, it shall be deemed to be zero.

3.3.1 Fixed Coupon Rate

If the applicable Confirmation specifies Fixed Coupon Rate as being applicable, the Coupon Rate will be specified in the applicable Confirmation.

3.3.2 Floating Coupon Rate

If the applicable Confirmation specifies Floating Coupon Rate as being applicable, the Coupon Rate will be determined in the manner specified in the applicable Confirmation.

If no offered quotation appears on the reference screen page or source specified as being applicable at the specified time and day or the reference screen page is not available or any offered quotation does not, in the sole opinion of the Calculation Agent, represent the prevailing Reference Rate, or the Reference Rate is not available for any reason, in each case, at the relevant time on the interest determination date, the Reference Rate shall, be such rate as determined by the Calculation Agent in accordance with applicable market practice in its sole and absolute discretion.

3.3.3 Variable-linked Coupon Rate

If the applicable Confirmation specifies Variable-linked Coupon Rate as being applicable, the Coupon Rate and Coupon Amount will be determined as set forth in the applicable Confirmation.

3.4 Calculation of Coupon Amounts

The Calculation Agent will calculate the Coupon Amount for each Coupon Period. Each Coupon Amount shall be calculated by applying the applicable Coupon Rate to the Principal Amount, multiplying such amount by the applicable Day Count Fraction, and rounding the resultant figure to the nearest Sub-Unit of the relevant currency, half of any such Sub-Unit being rounded upwards or otherwise in accordance with applicable market convention.

3.5 Cessation of accrual of Coupons

Subject to the applicable Sections of these terms and conditions and the applicable Confirmation, coupons shall cease to accrue on the Structured Deposit from the date of its termination.

4 Early Termination at Customer's Request

4.1 Approval by the Bank

The Customer may not terminate any Structured Deposit, or withdraw all or any part of the Principal Amount, before the Maturity Date without the approval in writing of the Bank, which may be granted or withheld in the Bank's sole and absolute discretion, and on such terms and conditions as the Bank may then determine in its sole and absolute discretion.

4.2 Early Termination Amount

If, upon the request of the Customer, the Bank agrees to a termination of the Structured Deposit in whole prior to its Maturity Date, the Structured Deposit shall be terminated by payment of the Early Termination Amount, either by the Customer to the Bank or by the Bank or the Customer, as the case may be, on the Early Termination Date. This means that the Customer may receive less than the Principal Amount initially deposited on the Start Date.

4.3 Bank's Obligations

If the Early Termination Amount is determined to be payable by the Bank, the payment of the Early Termination Amount by the Bank shall constitute full and final satisfaction of the Bank's obligations under the Structured Deposit and the Bank shall have no further obligations thereunder.

5 Maturity and Bank Early Termination Option

5.1 Maturity

The provisions relating to maturity of a Structured Deposit and the applicable Settlement Currency are set out in the applicable Confirmation and Section 2 to Section 5, as applicable. Unless terminated prior to the Maturity Date and subject to the other provisions hereof:

5.2.2 If a COMLSD is to be funded by the delivery of Commodity to the Bank, the Customer shall ensure that there is standing to the credit of its Commodity Account sufficient credit balance of the Commodity for the purpose of funding the COMLSD. The Customer authorises the Bank to apply any such balance towards funding of the COMLSD.

5.2.3 For the avoidance of doubt, if any balance of Commodity standing to the credit of the Customer's Commodity Account has been applied towards funding of a COMLSD, such balance shall cease to be available for withdrawal, further funding of any COMLSD or any other dealings.

Except as otherwise provided in this Clause, the Customer is not entitled to any right, title or interest in any Commodity as may be represented by the credit balance in its Commodity Account and it is also not entitled to withdraw, to seek physical delivery of or to enter into any dealings with any other party in respect of such credit balance.

- 5.3.2 If the Customer wishes to withdraw the whole or any part of the available credit balance of a Commodity in its Commodity Account (the “withdrawal quantity”), such request shall be deemed to be an irrevocable Instruction by the Customer to the effect that it wishes to sell the withdrawal quantity of the relevant Commodity to the Bank at the Spot Conversion Price on the date of such request. The Bank shall, as soon as practicable upon receipt of such request, pay to the Customer the purchase consideration for such withdrawal quantity of the Commodity and debit that withdrawal quantity from the Customer’s Commodity Account.
- 5.3.3 If the COMLSD provides for physical delivery of any Commodity, the Customer is only entitled to have the relevant quantity of such Commodity credited to the Customer’s Commodity Account. The Customer is not entitled to physical delivery of that Commodity in any form and is not entitled to any rights, title or interest to such Commodity.

3 Disruption Events

3.1 Consequences of a Disruption Event

3.1.1 Valuation Date Postponement

- (i) In case of a ELSD which references a single Share, Unit or ETN, if the Disrupted Day falls on a Valuation Date, the Calculation Agent may determine that Valuation Date Postponement shall apply.
- (ii) In case of an ELSD which references a Basket of Shares, Basket of Units or Basket of ETNs, if the Disrupted Day falls on a Valuation Date, the Calculation Agent may determine that:
 - (a) the relevant Valuation Date for each Share, Unit or ETN not affected by the occurrence of the Disrupted Day shall not be postponed; and the Valuation Date for each Share, Unit or ETN affected by the occurrence of the Disrupted Day shall be respectively postponed in accordance with Valuation Date Postponement.

OR

- (b) the relevant Valuation Date shall be postponed in accordance with Valuation Date Postponement as if references to “Disrupted Day” are references to “Disrupted Day for any one or more of the Shares, Units or ETNs”.

3.1.2 Termination of the ELSD

The Bank shall have the right to terminate the ELSD by payment of the Early Termination Amount either by the Customer to the Bank or by the Bank to the Customer, as the case may be, on the Early Termination Date.

3.2 Notification

Following the determination by the Calculation Agent of the occurrence of a Disruption Event, the Bank shall give notice to the Customer as soon as reasonably practicable in accordance with Part One (Clause 30) of the occurrence of the Disruption Event and the applicable consequences as determined by the Calculation Agent. For the avoidance of doubt, failure to send a notice shall not affect the validity of any consequences determined by the Calculation Agent.

3.3 Additional Disruption Event

In relation to an ELSD, Increased Cost of Stock Borrow and Loss of Stock Borrow are also Additional Disruption Events with the consequences as set out in Section 1 (Clause 8).

4 Other adjustment events

4.1 Potential Adjustment Events

Following the declaration of the terms of any Potential Adjustment Event, or if the Calculation Agent otherwise determines that a Potential Adjustment Event has occurred, the Calculation Agent will, in its sole and absolute discretion, determine whether such Potential Adjustment Event has a dilutive or concentrative effect on the theoretical value of the Shares or Basket of Shares, Units or Baskets of Units, or ETNs or Basket of ETNs, as the case may be. If so, the Calculation Agent will:

- 4.1.1 make the corresponding adjustment(s), if any, to any one or more of any Physical Delivery Assets and/or the Asset Amount and/or the Shares and/or the Basket of Shares and/or Units and/or Basket of Units and/or the ETNs and/or Basket of ETNs, as applicable, and/or any other terms of the ELSDs and/or the applicable Confirmation (including, for the avoidance of doubt, the substitution of any Share, Unit or ETN), as the Calculation Agent in its absolute and sole discretion determines appropriate to account for that dilutive or concentrative effect (including adjustments to account for changes in volatility, expected dividends, stock loan rate or liquidity relevant to the relevant Shares, Units or ETNs, as the case may be); and 4.1.2 determine the effective date(s) of the adjustment.

The Calculation Agent may, but is in no way obliged to, determine the appropriate adjustment in respect of such Potential Adjustment Event by reference to the adjustment made by an options exchange or quotation system to options on the Shares, Units or ETNs, as the case may be, traded on that options exchange.

Upon making any such adjustment, the Bank shall give notice as soon as practicable to the Customer in accordance with Part One (Clause 30), giving brief details of the adjustment and of the Potential Adjustment Event. For the avoidance of doubt, failure to send a notice shall not affect the validity of the adjustment.

Any adjustment to the terms of the ELSDs following a Potential Adjustment Event shall take into account the economic cost of any taxes, duties, levies, fees or registration payable by or on behalf of the Bank and/or any of its Affiliates or a foreign investor or charged on subscription, acquisition or receipt of any Shares, Units or ETNs, as the case may be, or other securities received as a result of the Potential Adjustment Event, such calculations to be determined and carried out by the Calculation Agent in good faith.

4.2 Adjustments relating to Merger Events, Delisting, Nationalisation, Insolvency, Insolvency Filing, Tender Offer, ETF Events, ETN Events of Default and ETN Early Redemption

Following the determination by the Calculation Agent of the occurrence of any one or more events of the following in respect of an ELSD,

4.2.1 in the case of ELSDs related to Share(s), a Merger Event, Delisting, Nationalisation, Insolvency, Insolvency Filing occurs and/or Tender Offer occurs in relation to a Share;

4.2.2 in the case of ELSDs related to ETF(s), a ETF Event, Delisting, Nationalisation or Insolvency occurs in relation to a Unit; or

4.2.3 in the case of ELSDs related to ETN(s), Nationalisation, an ETN Event of Default, an ETN Early Redemption or a Delisting occurs in relation to the ETNs, the Calculation Agent may in its sole and absolute discretion, determine that any one or more of the following consequences shall apply to the ELSD:

(i) Calculation Agent Adjustment

The Calculation Agent shall determine in its sole and absolute discretion the appropriate adjustment, if any, to be made to any one or more of any Physical Delivery Assets and/or the Asset Amount and/or any of the other terms of the ELSDs and/or the applicable Confirmation (including, for the avoidance of doubt, the substitution of any Share, Unit or ETN) to account for the applicable event and its economic effect (including adjustments to account for charges in volatility, expected dividends, stock loan rate or liquidity relevant to the relevant Share, Unit or ETN, as the case may be), and determine the effective date of that adjustment. The Calculation Agent may, but is in no way obliged to, determine the appropriate adjustment in respect of the applicable event by reference to the adjustment made by any options exchange or quotation system to options on the Shares or Units or ETNs, as the case may be, traded on that options exchange or quotation system. If options on the Shares, Units or ETNs, as the case may be, are not traded on the relevant exchange or quotation system, the Calculation Agent will make such adjustment, if any, as the Calculation Agent in its sole and absolute discretion determines appropriate, with reference to the rules and precedents (if any) set by any recognised exchange or quotation system on which options on shares, exchange traded funds or exchange traded notes are traded for dealing with the applicable event that in the determination of the Calculation Agent would have given rise to an adjustment by that exchange if such options over the Shares, Units or ETNs, as the case may be, were so traded; or

(ii) Termination of the ELSDs

The Bank shall have the right to terminate the ELSDs by payment of the Early Termination Amount either by the Customer to the Bank or by the Bank to the Customer, as the case may be, on the Early Termination Date.

Upon the occurrence of a Merger Event, Delisting, Nationalisation, Insolvency, Insolvency Filing, Tender Offer, ETF Event, ETN Events of Default or ETN Early Redemption, the Bank shall give notice as soon as practicable to the Customer in accordance with Part One (Clause 30) giving brief details of the applicable event and the action proposed to be taken in relation thereto. For the avoidance of doubt, failure to send a notice shall not affect the validity of the adjustment.

PART THREE RISK DISCLOSURE STATEMENT

Part A - Risks relating to Transactions and Services

1 General

1.1 This Risk Disclosure Statement does not explain all the risks and other significant aspects of entering into a Transaction or accepting the provision of a Service. Such risks can be substantial. The Customer should consult his advisors on the nature of the Transaction or Service. In addition, the Customer should carefully consider the risks specific to the Transaction or Service and whether the particular Transaction or Service is appropriate and suitable for him in the light of his experience, objectives and personal and financial circumstances.

1.2 In particular, each Customer should:

1.2.1 have sufficient knowledge and experience to make a meaningful evaluation of a Transaction or Service, including the merits and risks of such Transaction or Service;

1.2.2 have access to, and knowledge of, appropriate analytical tools to evaluate a Transaction or Service and the impact the Transaction or Service will have on his overall investment portfolio;

1.2.3 have sufficient financial resources and liquidity to bear all relevant risks;

1.2.4 understand thoroughly the terms and conditions of the Transaction or Service; and

1.2.5 be able to evaluate (either alone or with the help of an independent financial adviser) possible scenarios for economic, interest rate and other factors that may affect the Transaction or Service and his ability to bear the applicable risks.

By entering into a Transaction or agreeing to the provision of a Service, the Customer acknowledges that he makes his own assessment and relies on his own judgement in relation to any and all investment or trading or other decisions in respect of such Transaction or Service and accepts any and all risks associated therewith and any Losses suffered as a result. The Bank is not responsible for any Losses whatsoever or howsoever arising from the Transaction or Service. In addition, the Customer confirms that he has read and fully understood this Risk Disclosure Statement and all offering documents, term sheets, and documentation pertaining to the Transaction or Service, and that he fully understands the nature and terms and conditions of the Transaction or Service.

2 Risk of Securities trading

The prices of Securities fluctuate, sometimes dramatically. The price of a Security may move up or down, and may become valueless. It is as likely that losses will be incurred rather than profit made as a result of buying and selling Securities. In addition, any representation of past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance.

3 Liquidity risks

At certain times, or under certain market conditions, the Customer may find it difficult or impossible to liquidate a position, to assess the value or to determine a fair price. This is particularly so for unlisted Securities where there is no formal market for such Securities and are often thinly traded. In addition, there can be no certainty that market traders will be prepared to deal in Securities, in particular in relation to unlisted Securities, and proper information for determining their current value may not be available. Whilst generally it may be easier to liquidate a position or to assess the value or determine a fair price for listed Securities, there is no assurance that there will be a liquid market for such Securities or that the value or fair price can be obtained.

4 Trading of listed Securities on certain stock exchanges

There are certain stock exchanges which have been established as markets designed to accommodate companies to which a high investment risk may be attached, such as the Growth Enterprise Market in Hong Kong and the Catalist in Singapore. In particular, companies may list on these stock exchanges with neither a track record of profitability nor any obligation to forecast future profitability. There may be risks arising out of the emerging nature of companies listed on these exchanges and the business sectors or countries in which the companies operate (see paragraph 15 “Emerging Markets” below). Further, there is a risk that companies traded on such exchanges may be susceptible to market volatility and there is no assurance that there will be a liquid market in the Securities of such companies.

5 Trading of listed Securities outside the home jurisdiction

Trading of listed Securities in jurisdictions other than the jurisdiction where the Account is opened may expose the Customer to additional risks. Such markets may be subject to regulation which may offer different or diminished investor protection. Before the Customer trades in such markets, the Customer should enquire about the relevant rules as the Customer’s local regulatory authority may not be able to enforce such rules. The Customer should ask the Bank for details on, and understand, the redresses available in his local jurisdiction as well as the relevant overseas jurisdictions.

6 Custodial services

There may be risks in depositing Securities in the safekeeping of the Bank or the Nominee, including the risk of loss of all of the Securities. The Bank may appoint foreign custodians/sub-custodians to provide custodial services. Additional risks in relation to such foreign custodians/sub-custodians may arise from the operation of foreign law, rules and regulations. The Customer’s ability to withdraw the Securities may be affected if the Bank or the Nominee defaults or becomes insolvent.

7 Credit risks

The Customer should satisfy himself that the credit risk of the issuer of a Security or the counterparty to a Transaction or Service is acceptable to him, including but not limited to the failure by the issuer or counterparty to make good, valid or timely delivery or payment to the Customer. Further, an issuer to a Security may experience adverse changes to its financial condition which may result in an increased volatility in the price of the Security (including in the case of a debt security, a possible downgrade to any credit rating assigned to such security), negatively affect the liquidity of the Security and thereby make it more difficult to sell the Security. In addition, changes in the economic and political conditions in general, or changes in economic and political conditions specific to an issuer of a Security or a counterparty a Transaction or Service, may have an adverse impact on the creditworthiness of the issuer or the counterparty. There is no assurance of protection against a default of its obligations by the issuer or counterparty. A Customer who has received delivery of such Securities would be adversely impacted. Further, the value of a Structured Deposit with such underlying Securities may also be adversely impacted as a result. The credit risks arising from the Bank acting as counterparty to Structured Deposits are highlighted below in Part B, Clause 1.

8 Currency risk

Where the Customer engages in a Transaction involving one currency to hedge an original investment in another currency, or where the Transaction entered into by the Customer references two different currencies, fluctuations of the currencies against each other or against the other underlying elements of the Transaction may affect the Customer's net profit on the Transaction or increase the Customer's loss. In addition, where the Customer's home currency differs from the currency in which payments pursuant to the Transaction are made, foreign currency fluctuations may affect the Customers who intend to convert profits or losses pursuant to the Transaction to their home currency. Foreign exchange rates may fluctuate significantly and suddenly and are determined by (among other things) the supply and demand for currencies in the international foreign exchange markets, inflation rates in the countries concerned, interest rate differences between the respective countries, currency convertibility and measures (e.g. exchange controls) taken by government and monetary authorities.

9 Risks of over-the-counter transactions

A Structured Deposit is regarded as an over-the-counter transaction given that such Structured Deposits are neither traded nor listed on any exchange. As prices and characteristics of over-the-counter financial instruments are often individually negotiated, there may be no central source for obtaining prices and there can be inefficiencies and a lack of transparency in the pricing of such instruments. In entering into an over-the-counter Transaction, the Customer will bear the credit risk of the Bank as his counterparty defaulting (see below at Part C). It may also be difficult or impossible to liquidate an existing position. Unlike an on-exchange transaction, there will be no central clearing system that monitors or oversees the performance of the Structured Deposit. Compared to on-exchange transactions, Structured Deposits are less regulated or subject to a separate regulatory regime.

10 Exchange traded instruments

For Transactions involving underlying contracts or instruments which are traded on Exchanges, disruption of the normal market operation or conditions of such Exchanges and/or the rules of operation of such Exchanges (e.g. discretion on the part of the exchange to suspend or limit trading of certain contracts or instruments under certain market conditions) may increase the risk of loss by making it difficult or impossible to close out the Transactions. The Customer should inform himself of exercise and expiration procedures and his rights and obligations upon exercise or expiry of Transactions.

For Transactions in which the underlying contracts or instruments are supported by electronic trading facilities at Exchanges (e.g. computer-based component systems for order-routing, execution, matching, registration, or clearing of trades), any temporary disruption or power/system failure of such electronic trading facilities could result in a disruption in the trading activities at the Exchange and an unavailability of reference prices for the relevant Transaction. In such circumstances, the Customer's order may not be executed according to his Instructions or at all, which may lead to losses. It is likely that such losses will not be recoverable from the relevant Exchanges as the rules thereof invariably exempt them from such liabilities.

11 Clearing House Protections

On many Exchanges, the performance of a Transaction on such Exchange is "monitored" or "administered" by the Exchange or clearing house. However, this protection is unlikely to directly extend to the Customer, and may not protect the Customer if the Bank defaults on its obligations to the Customer.

12 Insolvency

In the event of the insolvency of the issuer of a Security or the counterparty to a Transaction or Service, the Customer may experience delay in liquidating his investment and may suffer losses, including a decline in the value of his investment (which may be zero). Further, the insolvency of the issuer of a Security or the counterparty to a Transaction or Service may lead to positions being liquidated or closed out without the Customer's consent. The Customer could lose his entire investment, including any monies held in the Account, any payment to be made or Securities to be delivered to the Customer, and any assets lodged by the Customer as collateral. In the event of the insolvency of the issuer of a Security or the counterparty to a Transaction or Service, the Customer's claims for recovery will generally be subordinated to the claims of the preferred or secured creditors of the issuer or counterparty.

13 Risk of margin trading

The risk of loss in depositing collateral for the purposes of margin trading in a Transaction or pursuant to a Service can be significant. The Customer may sustain losses in excess of the Customer's assets deposited as collateral. The Customer may be called upon at short notice to provide additional margin and this amount could be substantial. If the required margin is not provided within the prescribed time, the Customer's collateral may be liquidated without his consent. The high degree of leverage resulting from a relatively small margin requirement can work against the Customer as well as in the Customer's favour. The use of leverage may also result in large losses as well as gains.

14 No investment advice or recommendations

The Bank is not obliged to, and does not, give investment advice or make recommendations. Whilst it may provide recommendations on request by the Customer, such investment advice or recommendations are given or made (and the Customer acknowledges and agrees that it is so given or made) without any responsibility on the part of the Bank unless otherwise agreed in writing by the Bank and on the basis that the Customer will nevertheless make his own assessment and rely on his own judgment in respect of all Transactions executed or Services rendered under this Agreement.

15 Emerging markets

Transactions or Services related to emerging countries (e.g. Securities or underlying Reference Assets or Reference Entities of Structured Deposits which are listed in or linked to emerging countries), including those located in Asia, Latin America and eastern Europe, may carry high investment risks. Such risks include political risks (including confiscation of assets, restriction of the Customer's rights of disposal, or declines in the value of assets as a result of state intervention or the introduction of state monitoring and control mechanisms), risks of economic instability, greater prevalence of illegitimate market practices (e.g. insider trading) and laws and regulations which afford inadequate protection and safeguards to investors.

16 Risks associated with unsecured e-mail communication

The Customer acknowledges that e-mail is sent via public and private data transfer networks and providers which are accessible worldwide, and available to anyone. It is therefore impossible to control the transmission route of an e-mail. The Customer acknowledges and agrees that a multitude of risks are inherent in unsecured e-mail, for example, e-mail from the Bank can be faked as a result of e-mail or computer infections created or spread by third parties. The Bank accepts no responsibility for any losses arising from such risks.

17 Risks associated with Instructions via facsimile

Non-original signatures on the facsimile may be forged and such instructions may be transmitted to, and received at, wrong numbers, may never reach the Bank and may be disclose to third parties at the wrong number thereby losing their confidential nature.

18 Other Related Documentation

The Bank may, in appropriate cases, furnish the Customer with term sheets and other documentation (whether issued by the Bank or third parties) setting out the material terms, associated obligations, underlying assumptions, pricing basis and sensitivity analysis to illustrate the impact of market movements on the proposed financial investment and/or such other information as the Bank may think relevant. Any sensitivity analysis which may be provided are for the purposes of illustration only. The provision of such term sheet or other documentation shall not detract from the Customer's duty to take all such steps and make all such enquiries as may be necessary or desirable prior to making any investment decision and the Bank takes no responsibility or liability for the accuracy and completeness of such term sheet or other documentation or any information set out therein.

19 Commissions, Fees and Charges

Before the Customer enters into any Transaction or accepts any Service, the Customer should obtain a clear explanation of all commissions, fees and other charges for which the Customer will be liable. These charges will affect the Customer's net profit (if any) or increase the Customer's loss.

20 Taxation

The Bank does not provide tax advice and the Customer has full responsibility for any tax implication of entering into a Transaction or accepting the provision of a Service. Any tax treatment depends on a Customer's individual circumstances and may be subject to change in the future. The Customer should consult his tax adviser about his own tax situation.

Part B - Specific financial products or services

1 Equity securities and debt securities

NOTE: THIS PART B CLAUSE 1 ONLY APPLIES TO CUSTOMERS WHO HAVE PURCHASED INVESTMENTS RELATED TO EQUITY SECURITIES AND DEBT SECURITIES THROUGH THE BANK PRIOR TO 25 JULY 2016 AND HAVE YET TO TRANSFER SUCH SECURITIES TO STANDARD CHARTERED SECURITIES (B) SDN BHD.

In buying equity securities, the Customer will become a member of the company and participate fully in its economic risk. The Customer will be entitled to receive any dividend distributed each year (if any) out of the company's profits made during the reference period.

Buying debt securities means that the Customer is, in effect, a lender to the company or the entity that has issued the securities. The Customer is entitled to receive specified periodic interest payments, as well as repayment of the principal at maturity.

Both holders of equity and debt securities will be exposed to the specific risks associated with the individual securities (and the financial soundness of their issuers), as well as the systemic risks of the equity and debt securities markets.

In the case of shares of smaller companies, there is an additional risk that there may be a greater risk of loss as there may proportionately be a large difference between the buying and selling prices to these shares. If they have to be sold immediately, the Customer may get back much less than the amount that the Customer has originally paid.

2 Derivatives

NOTE: THIS PART B CLAUSE 2 ONLY APPLIES TO CUSTOMERS WHO HAVE PURCHASED INVESTMENTS RELATED TO DERIVATIVES THROUGH THE BANK PRIOR TO 25 JULY 2016 AND HAVE YET TO TRANSFER SUCH SECURITIES TO STANDARD CHARTERED SECURITIES (B) SDN BHD.

2.1 General

Derivatives are complex financial instruments. They can be linked to a wide range of reference underlying(s). Their nature and terms vary significantly.

Derivatives are linked to one or more reference underlyings, whereby the value of the derivatives and/or the rights and obligations under the derivatives depend on the performance of and/or occurrence or non-occurrence of event(s) related to the reference underlying(s). However, investing in derivatives is not the same as investing directly in the reference underlying(s). The Customer does not acquire any right in respect of the reference underlyings(s). For example, where the relevant derivatives are linked to share(s), the Customer does not acquire any right in respect of the share(s), including without limitation, the right to receive dividends or other distributions related to the share(s). Changes in the price or level of the reference underlying(s) may not lead to a corresponding change, or any change at all, in the value of, and/or the potential payment and/or deliveries under the derivatives.

Derivatives are volatile instruments and may be subject to considerable fluctuations in value and other inherent risks associated with the reference underlying(s). Changes in the price(s) of the reference underlying(s) can be unpredictable, sudden and large. Such changes may result in the price(s) of the reference underlying(s) moving adversely to the Customer's interest. A small movement in the price(s) of the reference underlying(s) may result in a drastic change in the value of, and/or potential payments and/or deliveries under, the derivatives. When two or more factors are exerting effects on a derivative simultaneously, the value of the derivative may become unpredictable.

The value of, and/or potential payments and/or deliveries under, derivatives may be affected by various market factors such as, but not limited to, the price, level, yield, volatility and/or creditworthiness of the reference underlying(s) and time remaining until scheduled termination. The 'time value' of derivatives may depend partly upon the length of the period remaining to scheduled termination and expectations concerning the value or other attributes of the relevant reference underlying(s).

Derivatives may employ leverage, which increases the exposure to the reference underlying(s), and can therefore magnify both returns and losses. Customer should note that derivatives which employ leverage involve a higher level of risk, and that losses under such derivatives (other things being equal) will be higher than those of similar derivatives which are not leveraged.

There may not be an active market for a derivative or the liquidity for a derivative may be poor, particularly in the case of unlisted derivatives. A Customer may not be able to dispose of or terminate the derivative before its scheduled maturity or termination date, or the payments and/or deliveries under the derivative may be substantially less than the original amount invested.

2.2 Options

Transactions in options carry a high degree of risk. The Customer should familiarise himself with the type of option which he contemplates trading and the associated risks. The Customer should calculate the extent to which the value of the options must increase for his position to become profitable, taking into account the premium and all transaction costs. There are many different types of options with different characteristics. Primarily however, an option means a right but not an obligation on the part of the buyer to purchase or sell an underlying asset at a specified price on an agreed date(s).

Buying options

The purchaser of options may exercise the options or allow the options to expire. The exercise of an option results either in a cash settlement or in the purchaser acquiring or delivering the underlying interest. If the purchased options expire worthless, the Customer will suffer a total loss of his investment which will consist of the option premium plus transaction costs.

Selling options

Selling (“writing” or “granting”) an option generally entails considerably greater risk than purchasing options. Although the premium received by the seller is fixed, the seller may sustain a loss well in excess of that amount. The seller will be liable for additional margin to maintain the position if the market moves unfavourably. The seller will also be exposed to the risk of the purchaser exercising the option and the seller will be obligated to either settle the option in cash or to acquire or deliver the underlying interest. If the option is “covered” by the seller holding a corresponding position in the underlying interest or a futures contract or another option, the risk may be reduced. If the option is not covered, the risk of loss can be unlimited.

Certain options markets operate on a margined basis, under which buyers do not pay the full premium on their option at the time they purchase it. In this situation the Customer may subsequently be called upon to pay margin on the option up to the level of his premium. If the Customer fails to do so as required, his position may be closed or liquidated.

2.3 Futures

Transactions in futures involve the obligation to make, or to take, delivery of the underlying asset of the contract at a future date at a pre-determined price, or in some cases to settle the position with cash. They carry a high degree of risk. The “gearing” or “leverage” often obtainable in trading in futures means that a small deposit or down payment can lead to large losses as well as gains. It also means that a relatively small movement can lead to a proportionately much larger movement in the value of the Customer’s investment, and this can work against the Customer as well as for the Customer.

2.4 Structured Deposits

Structured Deposits are derivative transactions entered into between the Bank and the Customer that are linked to one or more reference underlying(s). Please refer to Part C of Part Three of this Agreement for details of the relevant risk factors.

2.5 Structured products

Generally structured products are financial instruments whose investment returns are linked to the performance of reference underlying(s). Examples include (but are not limited to) equity-linked notes, interest rate-linked notes and credit-linked notes. Structured products can come in a variety of forms and linked to a wide range of reference underlying(s) and can be complex financial instruments. The Customer should read the offering document, term sheet, and documentation pertaining to the particular structured product carefully and fully understand the nature, terms and risks of such product.

3 Collective investment schemes

NOTE: THIS PART B CLAUSE 3 ONLY APPLIES TO CUSTOMERS WHO HAVE PURCHASED INVESTMENTS RELATED TO COLLECTIVE INVESTMENT SCHEMES THROUGH THE BANK PRIOR TO 25 JULY 2016 AND HAVE YET TO TRANSFER SUCH SECURITIES TO STANDARD CHARTERED SECURITIES (B) SDN BHD.

3.1 General

Collective investment schemes invest the funds paid in by the subscribers of units or shares in the collective investment schemes in different types of investments provided for in their offering documents or constitutional documents. The Customer will therefore be exposed to the risks and returns associated with the nature of the financial instruments in which the collective investment scheme invests, including without limitation:

- 3.1.1 Market risk – the value of an investment will decrease due to moves in market factors, and this will impact on the net asset value of the collective investment scheme.
- 3.1.2 Risk relating to investment in equity – the equity markets may fluctuate significantly with prices rising and falling sharply, and this will impact on the net asset value of the collective investment scheme.
- 3.1.3 Risk relating to investment in debt securities – the value of the investments will depend on (among others) market interest rates, the credit quality of the issuer and liquidity considerations. Some collective investment schemes may invest in high yielding debt instruments where the level of income may be relatively high (compared to investment grade debt instruments), however, the risk of depreciation and realisation of capital losses on such instruments will be significantly higher than on lower yielding debt instruments.
- 3.1.4 Currency risk – since the investments held by a collective investment scheme may be denominated in currencies different from its base currency, the collective investment scheme may be affected adversely by exchange control regulations or changes in the exchange rates between such reference currency and other currencies. Changes in currency exchange rates may influence the value of the units in a collective investment scheme, and also may affect the value of dividends and interests earned by the collective investment scheme.
- 3.1.5 Investment grade risk – some collective investment schemes invest in investment grade debt securities, which, like other types of debt securities, involve credit risk of the debt security issuer and may be subject to ratings downgrades by the rating agencies.

- 3.1.6 Investment in derivative instruments – some collective investment schemes invest in derivative instruments which can involve additional material risks such as counterparty risks or credit and liquidity risk. Some derivative instruments may employ leverage which can cause greater volatility.
- 3.1.7 Country concentration – collective investment schemes which invest in one country or limited countries will have greater exposure to market, political, legal, economic and social risks of that country/countries than a scheme which diversifies country risk across a number of countries.
- 3.1.8 Holdings concentration – collective investment schemes which invest in a relatively small number of investments or may be concentrated in a specific industry sector are subject to higher concentration risk.
- 3.1.9 Emerging market risk – some collective investment schemes invest in part or in whole via the methods detailed above in emerging markets which may be more volatile and subject to greater political and economic risks.
- 3.1.10 Liquidity risk
- 3.1.11 Investments held by a collective investment scheme may need to be sold if insufficient cash is available to finance redemptions of the scheme by investors. If the size of the disposals is sufficiently large, or the market is illiquid, there is a risk that the investments might not be sold or the price at which they are sold may adversely affect the net asset value of the scheme.

3.2 Exchange traded funds

Exchange traded funds (“ETFs”) are closed-ended collective investment schemes, traded as shares on stock exchanges, and typically replicate a stock market index, market sector, commodity or basket of assets.

ETFs can broadly be grouped into two types. Traditional ETFs track, replicate and correspond to the performance of an underlying index. Synthetic ETFs mimic the behavior of traditional ETFs through the use of derivatives such as swaps and performance-linked notes.

ETFs are subject to tracking error risk, namely the disparity between the performance of the ETF as measured by its net asset value and the performance of the underlying index. Tracking error may arise due to various factors. These include, failure of the ETFs tracking strategy, the impact of fees and expenses, foreign exchange differences between the base currency or trading currency of an ETF and the currencies of the underlying investments, or corporate actions such as rights and bonus issues by the issuers of the ETFs underlying securities.

Trading on an Exchange does not, in and of itself guarantee that a liquid market exists for an ETF. A higher liquidity risk is also involved if an ETF invests in financial derivative instruments that not actively traded in the secondary market and where price transparency is not as easily accessible as physical securities. This may result in a bigger bid and offer spread. Further, an ETF is exposed to the economic, political, currency, legal and other risks of a specific sector or market related to the underlying equity, commodity, asset or index that the ETF is designated to track. Synthetic ETFs typically invest in over-the-counter derivatives issued by counterparties. Such a synthetic ETF may suffer losses potentially equal to the full value of the derivatives issued by the counterparty upon its default. Synthetic ETFs are therefore exposed to both the risks of the securities that constitute the index as well as the credit risk of the counterparty that issues the financial derivative instruments for replicating the performance of the index.

3.3 Non-traditional funds (hedge funds)

Non-traditional funds (which may take a variety of legal forms such as investment companies or partnerships) differ from traditional investment funds such as equity or fixed income funds in respect of their investment style. A common type of a non-traditional fund is a hedge fund. Some of the common features of, and risks of investing in, a non-traditional fund include the following:

- 3.3.1 non-traditional funds have variable liquidity and tradeability, and may have limited subscription and redemption rights with lengthy notice periods (e.g. fund issues and redemptions are often allowed only on a monthly, quarterly or annual basis). Fixed holding periods are common, and liquidations may stretch out over a period of years;
- 3.3.2 the fund often aims to make an absolute return, under varying market conditions;
- 3.3.3 sometimes, the fund takes on very high levels of risk and may have significant leverage from the investment of borrowed capital;
- 3.3.4 the fund often uses derivatives, whether for hedging or for investment or speculation;
- 3.3.5 the fund may be able to carry out short sales;
- 3.3.6 the fund may not be subject to any restrictions on investment categories, markets or trading methods, and the strategies adopted by the fund may be speculative in nature;
- 3.3.7 the fund may require a high minimum investment amount; and
- 3.3.8 many non-traditional funds are located in “offshore” jurisdictions, and are subject to less stringent laws and supervision, which in turn provides relatively weaker investor protection relative to a traditional fund. There is no assurance that an investor's legal rights will be enforceable. There may be other risks associated with weaker regulation of such funds; for example, the fund may have poor or unsuitable operating systems and checking procedures.

Non-traditional fund investments involve a high degree of risk. Before making any investments, the Customer should seek independent advice about the particular risks involved and carefully study the relevant information memorandum, subscription agreement and other information on the investments.

4 Renminbi (“RMB”) denominated Investment Products

4.1 RMB currency risks

RMB is currently not a freely convertible currency. It is subject to foreign exchange control policies of Mainland China. The exchange rate of RMB may fluctuate from time to time. Any devaluation of RMB may adversely affect the value of the Customer's investment in RMB denominated assets.

4.2 Repatriation and conversion limitations

The relevant authorities in Mainland China have imposed restrictions on the repatriation of RMB out of Mainland China, which may limit the amount of RMB available outside Mainland

China and reduce the liquidity of the Customer's investment. In addition, the Mainland China's government policies on repatriation restrictions may be subject to change, which may adversely affect the Customer's investment.

Further, conversion of RMB through banks outside Mainland China may be subject to restrictions (including limitations on the amount that can be converted). The Customer may have to allow time for the conversion of RMB from/to another currency of an amount exceeding such limit and is subject to further currency risk in the interim.

4.3 Limited availability of underlying investments denominated in RMB

Where a RMB denominated Investment Product is referenced to underlying investments denominated in RMB, it may not have access to invest directly in Mainland China. The pool of underlying investments denominated in RMB outside Mainland China ("Offshore RMB Instruments") may be limited, which may adversely affect the return and performance of RMB Investment Products. Further, the Offshore RMB Instruments may not be regularly traded and there may not be an active secondary market. The bid and offer spread of the price of Offshore RMB Instruments may be large. Trading in RMB Investment Products may therefore incur significant trading and realisation costs.

4.4 Projected returns which are not guaranteed

Where the offering documents, term sheet or documentation pertaining to the RMB Investment Products contain a statement of illustrative return of the products which is not guaranteed, the Customer should note that the return is not guaranteed and should pay attention to the assumptions on which the illustrations are based.

4.5 Long term commitment to investment

Some RMB denominated Investment Products involve a long period of investment. If the Customer wishes to redeem his investment before the maturity date or during the lock-up period (if applicable), the Customer may incur a significant losses if the proceeds are substantially lower than the amount invested. In addition, heavy penalties or charges may be payable for the early termination or surrender of such products.

4.6 Credit risk of counterparties

Where a RMB denominated Investment Product invests in underlying instruments, such product is exposed to the counterparty risks associated with the issuers of or counterparties to such instruments. In particular, RMB denominated Investment Products may invest in instruments whereby the investment is not supported by any collateral, such RMB products will be fully exposed to the credit/insolvency risk of the relevant counterparties. Further, where RMB products invest in derivative instruments, counterparty risk may arise as the default by the derivative counterparty may adversely affect the performance of the RMB products and result in substantial losses.

4.7 Interest rate risk

Where RMB denominated Investment Products invest in RMB debt instruments, such instruments are susceptible to interest rate fluctuations, which may adversely affect the return and performance of the RMB denominated Investment Products.

4.8 Liquidity risk

It is possible that the RMB denominated Investment Products may suffer losses in liquidating the underlying investments, especially if such investments do not have an active secondary market and their prices have large bid/offer spreads.

4.9 Possibility of not receiving RMB upon redemption

For RMB denominated Investment Products with a significant portion of non-RMB denominated underlying investments, the Customer may not receive the full amount in RMB upon redemption or sale of his investment. Even if a product aims to deliver RMB, it may not be able to pay the Customer in RMB if the product has to sell non-RMB-denominated investments to meet the Customer's redemption or sale request or if it encounters conversion restriction when converting the proceeds in non-RMB currencies to RMB. Even if the investments are denominated in RMB, there may not be sufficient RMB to satisfy the redemption or sale requests due to repatriation or other controls on RMB. As a result, the Customer may not receive RMB when the Customer redeems or sells his investments.

Part C – Risks relating to Structured Deposits

AN INVESTMENT IN A STRUCTURED DEPOSIT MAY INVOLVE SUBSTANTIAL RISKS AND WILL ONLY BE SUITABLE FOR CUSTOMERS WHO HAVE THE KNOWLEDGE AND EXPERIENCE IN FINANCIAL AND BUSINESS MATTERS NECESSARY TO ENABLE THEM TO EVALUATE THE RISKS AND THE MERITS OF INVESTMENTS IN STRUCTURED DEPOSITS. PRIOR TO MAKING AN INVESTMENT DECISION, PROSPECTIVE CUSTOMERS SHOULD CONSIDER CAREFULLY, IN LIGHT OF THEIR OWN FINANCIAL CIRCUMSTANCES AND INVESTMENT OBJECTIVES, ALL THE INFORMATION SET FORTH IN THE AGREEMENT, INCLUDING, WHERE RELEVANT THE APPLICABLE CONFIRMATION AND, IN PARTICULAR, THE CONSIDERATIONS SET FORTH BELOW. THE AGREEMENT AND, WHERE RELEVANT, THE APPLICABLE CONFIRMATION CANNOT AND DOES NOT DISCLOSE ALL POSSIBLE CONSIDERATIONS RELATING TO THE STRUCTURED DEPOSITS. PROSPECTIVE CUSTOMERS SHOULD MAKE SUCH ENQUIRIES AND SEEK INDEPENDENT PROFESSIONAL ADVICE AS THEY DEEM NECESSARY WITHOUT RELYING ON THE BANK.

AN INVESTMENT IN A STRUCTURED DEPOSIT LINKED TO ONE OR MORE REFERENCE ASSETS MAY ENTAIL SIGNIFICANT RISKS, INCLUDING BUT NOT LIMITED TO THE RISKS SET OUT BELOW. IF THE BANK IS REQUIRED TO PAY AN AMOUNT ON TERMINATION OF A STRUCTURED DEPOSIT, SUCH AMOUNT MAY BE SUBSTANTIALLY LESS THAN THE INITIAL AMOUNTS INVESTED, AND MAY IN CERTAIN CIRCUMSTANCES BE ZERO. WHERE THE BANK IS REQUIRED TO DELIVER ONE OR MORE SPECIFIED ASSET(S) UPON TERMINATION OF A STRUCTURED DEPOSIT, THE VALUE OF SUCH SPECIFIED ASSET(S) MAY BE SUBSTANTIALLY LESS THAN THE INITIAL AMOUNTS INVESTED, AND MAY IN CERTAIN CIRCUMSTANCES BE ZERO.

1 Factors relating to the Bank's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Structured Deposits

1.1 Structured Deposits are unsecured obligations of the Bank

Structured Deposits are bilateral contracts entered into between the Customer and the Bank and constitute direct, unconditional, unsubordinated and unsecured obligations of the Bank and rank (save for certain obligations required to be preferred by law) equally with all other unsecured obligations (other than subordinated obligations, if any) of the Bank, from time to time outstanding. The Bank may incur a large amount of obligations, including the Structured Deposits and, at any given time, the obligations outstanding may be substantial.

1.2 Payments may not occur at all or be limited or substantially delayed in case of the Bank's bankruptcy

If a court institutes bankruptcy, insolvency or composition proceedings to avert bankruptcy or similar proceedings against the assets of the Bank, or the Bank applies for the institution of such proceedings concerning its assets, payments of coupon, principal or other amounts on or in connection with the Structured Deposits and/or delivery of any specified asset(s) in connection with the Structured Deposits may not occur at all or may be limited and/or may be substantially delayed.

1.3 The value of the Structured Deposits is expected to be affected, in part, by the creditworthiness and credit ratings of the Standard Chartered Group

The value of the Structured Deposits is expected to be affected, in part, by investors' and others' (including, but not limited to, credit rating agencies) general appraisal of the creditworthiness of the Standard Chartered Group. Such perceptions may be influenced by the ratings accorded to outstanding securities of the Standard Chartered Group by well-recognised rating agencies, such as Moody's Investors Service Inc., Standard & Poor's, a division of The McGraw-Hill Companies, Inc., or other internationally recognised credit rating agencies. A reduction in the rating, if any, accorded to outstanding securities of the Standard Chartered Group, by one of these rating agencies could result in a reduction in the value of the Structured Deposits.

2 Factors which are material for the purposes of assessing the risks associated with the Structured Deposits

2.1 Structured Deposits may not be suitable for all investors

Each Customer must determine the suitability of an investment in a Structured Deposit in light of his own circumstances.

Some Structured Deposits are complex financial instruments. Sophisticated institutional investors generally do not purchase complex financial instruments as stand-alone investments but as a way to reduce risk or enhance yield with an understood, measured, appropriate addition of risk to their overall portfolios. A Customer should not invest in any Structured Deposit which is a complex financial instrument unless he has the expertise (either alone or with his financial and other advisers) to evaluate how the Structured Deposit will perform under changing conditions, the resulting effects on the value of the Structured Deposit and the impact this investment will have on the potential investor's overall investment holdings.

2.2 Investors may lose the original invested amount

Investors may lose the entire value of their investment in a Structured Deposit as a result of the occurrence of any one or more events, including, among others, the following events:

- 2.2.1 the Bank is subject to insolvency proceedings or some other event impairing its ability to meet its obligations under the Structured Deposits;
- 2.2.2 the relevant Reference Asset(s) perform in such a manner that pursuant to the terms and conditions of the Structured Deposit, the Final Termination Amount, Early Termination Amount or other relevant amount(s) payable or the specified asset(s) deliverable upon termination is less than or is worth less than the initial amount invested; and
- 2.2.3 certain adjustments in accordance with the terms and conditions of the Structured Deposit that may result in the Final Termination Amount, Early Termination Amount or other relevant amount(s) payable or the specified asset(s) deliverable upon termination being reduced to or being valued at an amount less than the initial amount invested.

2.3 Country risks

By seeking exposure to the Reference Asset(s) through an investment in the Structured Deposits, the Customer may also be exposed to the economic and political risks of the country or countries in which the Reference Asset is located or domiciled. Whilst the existing market condition and regulatory framework may be conducive for an investment linked to such a country or countries, such investments may be sensitive to any significant (i) changes in market conditions, political, social or economic policy, or (ii) changes in laws and regulations in such a country or countries. No assurance is given as to that country's or countries' government's future control of currency conversion, free transfer of monies and securities, and movements in exchange rates may or may not affect the performance of, or returns under, the Structured Deposits.

2.4 Market risks

The value of a Structured Deposit is affected by various market factors such as (but not limited to) the price, level, yield, volatility and/or creditworthiness of the Reference Asset(s), the level of interest rates and time remaining until scheduled termination. Where the Reference Asset(s) are listed, traded or otherwise negotiable securities, the value of a Structured Deposit may also be affected by the applicable dividend rate and/or the financial results and prospects of the issuer(s) of the Reference Asset(s). The amount payable and/or deliverable in respect of a Structured Deposit at any time prior to scheduled termination may be less than or may be worth less than the value of such Structured Deposit at that time. The difference may reflect, among other things, a "time value" for the Structured Deposit. The "time value" of the Structured Deposit will depend partly upon the length of the period remaining to scheduled termination and expectations concerning the value of the relevant Reference Asset(s).

Structured Deposits are volatile instruments and may be subject to considerable fluctuations in value and other inherent risks associated with financial markets relevant to the Reference Asset(s). The value of a Structured Deposit may fall as rapidly as it may rise. Past performance is neither a guarantee nor a reliable indicator of future performance.

2.5 Initial amount of investment may be more than the value of a Structured Deposit

The initial amount of investment in respect of any Structured Deposit will likely be more than the value of the Structured Deposit as at the Start Date and during the term of the Structured Deposit. In particular, the initial amount of investment will take into account amounts with respect to fees and/or costs relating to the offer of the Structured Deposit and amounts relating to the hedging of the Bank's obligations under the Structured Deposit.

- 2.6 It may not be possible to use a Structured Deposit as a perfect hedge against the market risk associated with a specific investment or asset

Customers intending to invest in a Structured Deposit to hedge against the market risk associated with a specific investment or asset should recognise the complexities of utilising a Structured Deposit in this manner. For example, there is no assurance that the value of the Structured Deposit will match movements in the value of the specific investment or asset.

- 2.7 Significant risks in investing in Structured Deposits which reference one or more emerging market Reference Asset(s)

Where the terms and conditions of a Structured Deposit reference one or more emerging market Reference Asset(s), investors in such Structured Deposit should be aware that the political and economic situation in countries with emerging economies or stock markets may be undergoing significant evolution and rapid development, and such countries may lack the social, political and economic stability characteristics of more developed countries, including, among other things, a significant risk of currency value fluctuation. Such instability may result from, among other things, authoritarian government or military involvement in political and economic decision making; changes or attempted changes in governments through extra-constitutional means; popular unrest associated with demands for improved political, economic or social conditions; internal insurgencies; hostile relations with neighbouring countries; and ethnic, religious or racial conflict. Certain emerging market countries may have failed in the past to recognise private property rights and may have at times nationalised or expropriated the assets of private companies. In addition, unanticipated political or social developments may affect the values of a Reference Asset connected to such countries. The small size and inexperience of the securities markets in certain countries and the limited volume of trading in securities may make the Reference Asset(s) connected to such countries illiquid and more volatile than those in more established markets. There may be little financial or accounting information available with respect to issuer(s) of Reference Asset(s) in emerging market countries and it may be difficult as a result to assess the value or prospects of the Reference Asset(s). As a result, the risks from investing in a Structured Deposit whose performance is linked to Reference Asset(s) associated with such countries may be heightened when compared to Reference Asset(s) associated with more developed countries.

3 General risks related to a particular Structured Deposit

- 3.1 No claim against any Reference Asset

A Structured Deposit will not represent an ownership interest in any Reference Asset to which the amount(s) payable or amount of specified asset(s) deliverable in respect of the Structured Deposit is dependent and a Customer will not be able to make any ownership claims to any Reference Asset.

Investing in a Structured Deposit is not the same as investing in the Reference Asset(s). The value of the Structured Deposit, amount(s) payable and/or asset(s) deliverable under the Structured Deposit may not reflect movements in the price, level or value of the Reference Asset(s). Unless the terms and conditions of a Structured Deposit provide otherwise, a Customer will not be entitled to any dividends, distributions, payments or voting rights in respect of any Reference Asset or, in the case of an Index-Linked Structured Deposit, any component of the relevant index.

3.2 Under-performance risk

There can be no assurance that the return on an investment in a Structured Deposit will match or exceed any potential return, including interest and/or dividend income, that the Customer may otherwise earn on a direct investment in the Reference Asset(s) or in a bank deposit or non-structured fixed coupon bond or any other kind of investment.

3.3 Unwind costs for hedging transactions

Upon the termination of a Structured Deposit, the Standard Chartered Group may be required to unwind, terminate, liquidate, adjust, obtain, replace or re-establish its hedging transactions, resulting in a gain to, or losses and costs incurred by, the Standard Chartered Group. Under the terms and conditions of the Structured Deposit, the Customer may receive an amount from the Bank in respect of such gain, or, as the case may be, be required to make a payment to the Bank in respect of such losses or costs. In such a case, any amount that would otherwise be received by the Customer in the case of cash settlement of the Structured Deposit may be adjusted accordingly. Similarly, in the case of physical settlement of the Structured Deposit, the Customer may be required to make certain payments in respect of such losses and costs incurred by the Standard Chartered Group as a condition of the delivery of any specified asset(s) by the Bank, or, as the case may be, the Customer may receive certain payments from the Bank with the delivery of any specified asset(s) by the Bank in respect of such gain to the Standard Chartered Group.

3.4 Reinvestment risk

In the event that a Structured Deposit is early terminated due to any reason, the Customer is exposed to reinvestment risk as the Customer may not be able to reinvest any amount(s) received upon early termination at such time at the same rate or for the same return as under the terminated Structured Deposit.

3.5 Risk of Structured Deposits linked to interest rates

The amount(s) payable under a Structured Deposit may be dependent upon the level or changes in the level of one or more interest rates. Coupons under a Structured Deposit may be calculated by reference to a fixed interest rate, a floating interest rate or such other rate specified in the applicable Confirmation. Changes in the level(s) of the relevant rate(s) may affect the coupon or other amount(s) payable and/or the value of a Structured Deposit.

3.6 Specific risks of Structured Deposits linked to floating or variable linked interest rates

A key difference between a Structured Deposit linked to a fixed interest rate and that linked to a floating or variable linked interest rate is that coupons payable on the latter cannot be anticipated. Customers are not able to determine a definite yield of the Structured Deposit linked to a floating or variable linked interest rate at the time they invest in them (particularly if there are frequent interest determination dates) and the return on investment cannot be compared with that of a Structured Deposit having longer fixed interest periods.

3.7 Foreign exchange rate exposure in respect of Structured Deposits which provide for payment to be made in a currency which is different to the currency of the Reference Asset(s)

Where the terms and conditions of a Structured Deposit provide that the settlement currency will be a currency which is different from the currency of the Reference Asset(s), and the Structured Deposit does not have a “quanto” feature (i.e. a feature that shields the investor from changes in foreign exchange rates), the Customer will be exposed not only to the performance of the Reference Asset(s) but also to the exchange rate(s) between the currency of the Reference Asset(s) and the settlement currency of the Structured Deposit, which cannot be predicted. Customers should be aware that foreign exchange rates are highly volatile and determined by supply and demand for currencies in the international foreign exchange markets, which are subject to economic factors, including, among other things, inflation rates in the countries concerned, interest rate differences between the respective countries, economic forecasts, international political factors, currency convertibility and safety of making financial investments in the currency concerned, speculation and measures taken by governments and central banks (e.g. imposition of regulatory controls or taxes, issuance of a new currency to replace an existing currency, alteration of the exchange rate or exchange characteristics by devaluation or revaluation of a currency or imposition of exchange controls with respect to the exchange or transfer of a specified currency that would affect exchange rates and the availability of a specified currency).

3.8 Risks relating to currency-shielded or “quanto” Structured Deposits with a settlement currency which is different to the currency of the Reference Asset(s)

If one or more Reference Asset(s) are not denominated in the currency of a Structured Deposit and at the same time only the performance of the Reference Asset(s) in their denominated currency is relevant to the payout on the Structured Deposit, such Structured Deposit is referred to as currency-shielded or “quanto” products. The investment return depends only on the performance of the Reference Asset(s) in their denominated currency and any change in the foreign exchange rates is disregarded. Accordingly, Customers holding such “quanto” Structured Deposit will not have the benefit of any (favourable) change in the foreign exchange rate between the currency of the Reference Asset(s) and the settlement currency of the Structured Deposit that would otherwise increase the performance of the Reference Asset(s) in the absence of such “quanto” feature. In addition, changes in the relevant foreign exchange rate may indirectly influence the price of the relevant Reference Asset(s) which, in turn, could have a negative effect on the return and/or value of the Structured Deposit.

3.9 Exchange rate risks and exchange controls

Amounts payable under a Structured Deposit will be paid in the currency specified in the applicable Confirmation for the Structured Deposit. This presents certain risks relating to currency conversions if the Customer’s investment and other financial activities are denominated principally in a currency (the “Customer’s Currency”) other than the specified settlement currency. These include, among other things, the risk that foreign exchange rates may change significantly and/or suddenly (including changes due to devaluation of the specified settlement currency or revaluation of the Customer’s Currency) and the risk that government or monetary authorities with jurisdiction over the specified settlement currency and/or the Customer’s Currency may impose or modify exchange controls (as some have done in the past). An appreciation in the value of the Customer’s Currency relative to the specified settlement currency would decrease the Customer’s Currency equivalent yield on and value of the Structured Deposit. As a result, Customers may receive amount(s) in the Customer’s Currency that are lower than expected.

3.10 Customers may receive physical delivery of certain specified asset(s) in lieu of payment of cash amount(s)

Where the terms and conditions of a Structured Deposit include the right of the Bank to terminate the Structured Deposit at their maturity by delivering certain specified asset(s), the Customer may receive such specified asset(s) rather than monetary amount(s) upon termination. The Customer will, therefore, be exposed to the issuer of such specified asset(s), where applicable, and the risks associated with such specified asset(s). The Customer should not assume that he or she will be able to sell such specified asset(s) for a specific price after the termination of the Structured Deposit, and in particular, not for an amount equal to or greater than the initial amount invested or the price, level or value of the Reference Asset(s) on any date. Under certain circumstances, the specified asset(s) may have a very low value or may be worthless. The Customer may be subject to laws and/or regulations that may impose restrictions, conditions and/or requirements in respect of taking delivery and/or holding of such specified asset(s). The Customer will be responsible for ensuring compliance with any laws and/or regulations applicable to them. The Customer may be subject to certain documentary or stamp taxes or settlement and custody charges in relation to the delivery, holding and/or disposal of such specified asset(s). The Customer may also need to hold certain account(s) (e.g. foreign securities accounts) in order to take delivery and/or hold such specified assets.

3.11 Customers' obligation to pay expenses in relation to Structured Deposits subject to physical delivery

Customers subject to physical delivery must pay all expenses relating to the delivery and holding of the specified asset(s) to be delivered. No delivery of the specified asset(s) will be made until all such expenses have been paid to the satisfaction of the Bank. Under the terms and conditions of the Structured Deposits, Customers will be required to pay all such expenses. It may also be necessary for Customers to pay on-going custody charges after the delivery has been made.

3.12 Risk of leveraged exposure

3.12.1 Leverage embedded within Structured Deposits

Leverage involves the use of a number of financial techniques to increase the exposure to the Reference Asset(s), and can therefore magnify both returns and losses. While the use of leverage allows for potential multiples of a return (assuming a return is achieved) when the Reference Asset(s) move in the anticipated direction, it will conversely magnify losses when the Reference Asset(s) move in the non-anticipated direction. If a Structured Deposit employs leverage, the Customer should note that the Structured Deposit will involve a higher level of risk, and that whenever there are losses such losses will be higher (other things being equal) than those of similar Structured Deposits that are not leveraged. Customers should therefore only invest in a leveraged Structured Deposit if they fully understand the effect of leverage. If the amount(s) payable or specified asset(s) deliverable under a Structured Deposit are determined in conjunction with a multiplier greater than one, or by reference to some other leverage factor, the effect of changes in the prices, levels or values of the Reference Asset(s) on amount(s) payable or specified asset(s) deliverable under the Structured Deposits will be magnified.

3.12.2 Leverage obtained separately from Structured Deposits

Further, a Customer must be aware that where leverage is obtained through a loan or other credit facility separate from a Structured Deposit, the Customer will always have an obligation to repay such loan or credit facility (including interest) regardless of the amounts paid (if any) to the Customer under the Structured Deposit. This means such a loan or credit facility would still need to be repaid by the Customer even if the Customer loses the entire amount invested in the Structured Deposit.

3.13 Certain risks in Structured Deposits that include an averaging feature

The calculation of the performance of a Reference Asset in respect of a Structured Deposit may be based on the average of the price or level or other measure of such Reference Asset over two or more scheduled times and/or dates. The effect of such averaging may be that the performance of the Reference Asset will not increase proportionately if the price or level or other measure of the Reference Asset sharply increases towards the end of the term or temporarily during the term. Accordingly, the effect of the averaging feature may be to lead to a reduced performance (and therefore a reduced return on the Structured Deposit) than if the performance of the Reference Asset was measured at a single valuation time and/or on a single valuation date. On the other hand, a temporary decrease of price or level or other measure of the Reference Asset will not lead to a proportionate decrease of the performance of the Reference Asset if the price or level or other measure of the Reference Asset has been correspondingly higher on the remaining valuation times and/or dates.

3.14 Discretion exercised by the Calculation Agent or the Bank may have an adverse impact on the Structured Deposits

The terms and conditions of a Structured Deposit provide for the Calculation Agent or the Bank to make calculations, determinations, elections and/or adjustments in relation to the Structured Deposit that may impact on the Structured Deposits, including, among others, amount and/or timing of payment(s) and/or delivery(ies) under and/or the timing of termination of the Structured Deposits. Any adjustment may also include substitution of any Reference Asset. As a result of the exercise of such discretion, the timing of the termination of the Structured Deposits and/or the method of settlement upon termination may be affected. Any decision made by the Calculation Agent or the Bank may have an adverse impact on the return and/or value of the Structured Deposits, result in an increased risk of the Customer losing all or part of his investment and/or a delay in the Customer receiving payment(s) and/or delivery(ies) under the Structured Deposit.

The Calculation Agent or the Bank, when exercising any of its discretion, will not take into account the Customer's specific circumstances and/or tax or other consequences of such adjustments in any particular jurisdiction.

3.15 Bank Early Termination Option

Where the terms and conditions of a Structured Deposit provide that the Bank has the right to call for the early termination of (a "Bank Early Termination Option") a Structured Deposit, this will generally mean that (i) the Customer will not be able to participate fully (or some cases partially) in any future upside performance of the Reference Asset(s) following the early termination and (ii) the value of the Structured Deposits may be limited.

One situation in which the Bank may be expected to exercise a Bank Early Termination Option is when its cost of borrowing is lower than the interest rate on the Structured Deposits.

A Bank Early Termination Option is likely to limit the value of the Structured Deposit. During any period when the Bank may elect to early terminate the Structured Deposit, the value of the Structured Deposit generally will not rise substantially above the amount at which they can be early terminated. This also may be true prior to any termination period.

3.16 Timing of valuation(s), payment(s), delivery(ies), settlement and/or termination may be affected by disruption and/or adjustment events

The terms and conditions of a Structured Deposit provide that the Calculation Agent or the Bank may determine that an event which amounts to a disruption has occurred in relation to the Structured Deposit on any date relevant for valuation(s), payment(s), delivery(ies), settlement and/or termination under the Structured Deposit. In such an event, the Calculation Agent or the Bank may, among other potential consequences, make necessary adjustment(s) or postponement(s) to the affected dates. The timing of such dates (as scheduled or as so postponed or adjusted) or any other consequential adjustment may adversely affect the amount(s) payable and/or specified asset(s) deliverable under and/or the value of the Structured Deposit. Any such adjustment or postponement may also result in the delay of the date(s) of payment, delivery and/or termination of the Structured Deposit.

Customers should review the terms and conditions of the Structured Deposit and familiarise themselves with the specific circumstances in which such disruption and/or adjustment events may arise and the potential consequences of such events.

3.17 Timing of settlement and/or termination and/or method of settlement may be affected by disruption events

Where a Structured Deposit provides for physical delivery, the Calculation Agent or the Bank may determine that a Settlement Disruption Event has occurred. A Settlement Disruption Event is an event beyond the control of the Bank, as a result of which, in the opinion of the Calculation Agent, delivery of the specified asset(s) by the Bank is not possible or commercially practicable. Any such determination may result in any physical settlement in respect of the Structured Deposit being postponed until the Settlement Disruption Event is no longer continuing. The Bank may also elect in its sole and absolute discretion to pay a cash amount equal to the fair market value of the specified asset(s) instead of delivering the specified asset(s).

4 Conflicts of interest

4.1 Discretion exercised by the Calculation Agent or the Bank

Potential conflicts of interest may exist between the Standard Chartered Group and/or the Calculation Agent and the Customers, including with respect to certain discretions exercised by the Calculation Agent or the Bank, in their sole and absolute discretion, without regard to the circumstances of the Customers, pursuant to the terms and conditions of a Structured Deposit. Please refer to Paragraphs 3.14 and 3.15 regarding how an exercise of discretion by the Calculation Agent or the Bank may affect a Structured Deposit.

4.2 Information relating to Reference Asset(s)

The Standard Chartered Group may, prior to or at the Start Date or at any time hereafter, be in possession of information in relation to a Reference Asset that is or may be material in the context of a Structured Deposit and may or may not be publicly available to the Customers. The Standard Chartered Group is not under any obligation to disclose, and will not in fact disclose, to the Customers any such information. Customers must therefore make an investment decision based upon their own due diligence and transact in Structured Deposits in the knowledge that non-public information which the Standard Chartered Group may have will not be disclosed to Customers.

The Standard Chartered Group is not under any obligation to: (i) conduct any due diligence, investigation or performance review of any issuer of any Reference Asset; (ii) review on the Customer's behalf, the business, financial conditions, prospects, creditworthiness, status or affairs of the any issuer of any Reference Asset; or (iii) other than as may be required by applicable laws and regulations relating to a Structured Deposit, make available any public or non-public information relating to any issuer of any Reference Asset linked to a Structured Deposit.

4.3 Business relationships with or in relation to an issuer of any Reference Asset

The Standard Chartered Group and/or the Calculation Agent may have existing or future business relationships with or in relation to any issuer of any Reference Asset (including, but not limited to, lending, depositary, risk management, advisory, underwriting and banking relationships), and will pursue actions and take steps that they or it deems necessary or appropriate to protect their and/or its interests arising therefrom without regard to the consequences for any Customer.

4.4 Hedging

In the ordinary course of its business, including, without limitation, in connection with its proprietary trading, market-making activities, underwriting or advisory activities, the Standard Chartered Group may effect transactions for its own account or for the account of its customers and hold long or short positions in Structured Deposits, any related Reference Asset(s) or derivatives and/or other transactions. In addition, the Standard Chartered Group may enter into one or more hedging transactions with respect to a Structured Deposit, any related Reference Asset(s) or derivatives. Such hedging transactions may affect the liquidity or value of Structured Deposits and/or any related Reference Asset(s) and could be adverse to the interests of relevant Customers.

5 Legal risks

5.1 Change of law

The terms and conditions of the Structured Deposits are prepared based on the Governing Law of the Agreement. No assurance can be given as to the impact of any possible judicial decision or change to the Governing Law or administrative practice after the Start Date.

5.2 There may be regulatory consequences to Customers who invest in Structured Deposits

There may be regulatory and other consequences associated with the investment by Customers in Structured Deposits. For example, a Customer may be required to be licensed by a government authority in order to invest in Structured Deposits. Each Customer must conduct his own investigation into his regulatory position with respect to the potential investment in Structured Deposits, and the Bank does not assume any obligation or liability whatsoever to such Customer in such regard.

6 Risks associated with Structured Deposits linked to baskets comprising various Reference Assets

6.1 Exposure to performance of a basket and its underlying constituents

Where a Structured Deposit references a basket of Reference Assets, the Customers are exposed to the risk and the performance of such basket as a whole and each Reference Asset in the basket.

6.2 A high correlation of basket constituents may have a significant effect on amount(s) payable or specified asset(s) deliverable

A high correlation of Reference Assets in a basket may have a significant effect on the amount(s) payable and/or specified asset(s) deliverable under a Structured Deposit. Correlation of Reference Assets in a basket indicates the level of interdependence of the performance of the individual Reference Asset in the basket. If, for example, all of the Reference Assets in the basket are from the same sector and the same country, a high positive correlation might exist. Past rates of correlation may not be a reliable indicator of future rates of correlation: investors should be aware that, even where Reference Assets in a basket may not appear to be correlated based on past performance, it may be that they suffer the same adverse performance following a general downturn or other economic or political event. Where the Reference Assets in a basket are subject to high correlation, any event which affects the Reference Assets in the basket will result in an exaggerated effect on the performance of the Structured Deposit linked to such basket.

6.3 Effect of weighting of each Reference Asset in a basket

Customers must be aware that the negative performance of a single Reference Asset in a basket may outweigh the positive performance of one or more other Reference Asset(s) in the basket and cause the performance of the basket as a whole to be negative.

A small basket, or an unequally weighted basket, will generally leave the basket more vulnerable to changes in the value(s) of the Reference Asset(s) in the basket with higher weighting(s).

6.4 A change in composition of a basket may have an adverse effect on basket performance

Where a Structured Deposit grants the Calculation Agent or the Bank the right, in certain circumstances, to adjust the composition of the Reference Assets in a basket, Customers should be aware that any replacement Reference Asset in the basket may perform differently from the original Reference Asset in the basket. Such replacement may have an adverse effect on the performance of the basket.

7 Risks related to the structure of a particular Structured Deposit

A Customer should be aware that, depending on the terms and conditions of a Structured Deposit, (i) the Customer may not receive any coupon, other amount or specified asset or only a limited amount of coupon, other amount or specified asset, (ii) the payment of any coupon or other amount or delivery of any specified asset may occur at a different time than scheduled and (iii) the Customer may lose all or a substantial portion of the initial investment amount.

The amount(s) payable and/or the specified asset(s) deliverable under a Structured Deposit will be dependent upon the performance of Reference Asset(s). Accordingly, an investment in a Structured Deposit may bear similar risks to a direct investment in the Reference Asset(s).

Changes to the performance or other attributes of Reference Asset(s) cannot be reliably predicted. Although historical data may be available, historical performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance. In addition, the performance or other attributes of Reference Asset(s) may be subject to significant changes that may not be in line with changes in interest rates or other Reference Asset(s) and the timing of changes may affect the actual return of a Structured Deposit to the Customer, even if the average performance or general attributes of Reference Asset(s) are consistent with their expectations.

The value of a Structured Deposit may be volatile and may depend on the time remaining to maturity and the volatility of the relevant Reference Asset(s).

7.1 Currency-Linked Structured Deposits

7.1.1 Currency-Linked Structured Deposits in general

The currency exchange rate(s) to which a Currency-Linked Structured Deposit is linked will affect the nature and value of the return on the Currency-Linked Structured Deposit. The performance of currency exchange rates are dependent upon the supply and demand for currencies in the international foreign exchange markets, which are subject to economic and political factors in one or more jurisdictions, including, among other things, inflation rates in the countries concerned, interest rate differences between the respective countries, economic forecasts, international political factors, currency convertibility and safety of making financial investments in the currency concerned, speculation and measures taken by governments and central banks. Such measures include, among other things, imposition of regulatory controls or taxes, issuance of a new currency to replace an existing currency, alteration of the exchange rate or exchange characteristics by devaluation or revaluation of a currency or imposition of exchange controls with respect to the exchange or transfer of a specified currency that would affect foreign exchange rates and the availability of a specified currency.

7.1.2 The Standard Chartered Group is a foreign exchange dealer and there may be conflicts of interest between the Standard Chartered Group and the Customer

Customers should note that the Standard Chartered Group is a regular participant in the foreign exchange market and in the ordinary course of its business may effect transactions for its own accounts or for the accounts of its customers and hold long and short positions in currencies and related derivatives, including in the currency or currencies that are linked to a Currency-Linked Structured Deposit. Such transactions may affect the relevant foreign exchange rates, the liquidity and/or value of the Currency-Linked Structured Deposit and could be adverse to the interests of the Customer. The Standard Chartered Group has no duty to enter into such transactions in a manner which is favourable to the Customers.

7.1.3 Currencies of emerging market jurisdictions pose particular risks

A Customer investing in a Currency-Linked Structured Deposit linked to one or more emerging market currencies should note that emerging market currencies may experience greater volatility and less certainty as to the future rate of exchange as against other currencies.

7.2 Commodity-Linked Structured Deposits

7.2.1 Commodity prices may be more volatile than other asset classes, making investments in Commodity-Linked Structured Deposits riskier than other Structured Deposits

Trading in commodities may be speculative and may be extremely volatile. Commodity prices are affected by a variety of factors that are unpredictable including, for example, changes in supply and demand relationships, weather patterns and extreme weather conditions, governmental programmes and policies, national and international political, military, terrorist and economic events, fiscal, monetary and exchange control programmes, changes in interest and foreign exchange rates and changes and suspensions or disruptions of market trading activities in commodities and related contracts.

7.2.2 Commodity-Linked Structured Deposits may reference physical commodities or commodity contracts, and certain commodity contracts may be traded on unregulated or “under-regulated” exchanges

Commodities comprise both (i) physical commodities, which need to be stored and transported, and which are generally traded at a spot price, and (ii) commodity contracts, which are agreements either to (a) buy or sell a set amount of an underlying physical commodity at a predetermined price and delivery period (which may be referred to as a delivery month), or to (b) make and receive a cash payment based on changes in the price of the underlying physical commodity.

Commodity contracts (such as futures or options) may be traded on regulated specialised futures and options exchanges. Commodity contracts may also be traded directly between market participants off-exchange or “over-the-counter” on trading facilities that are subject to lesser degrees of regulation or, in some cases, no substantive regulation. Accordingly, trading in such “over-the counter” contracts may not be subject to the same provisions as, and the protections afforded to, contracts traded on regulated specialised futures exchanges, and there may therefore be additional risks related to the liquidity and price histories of the relevant contracts.

7.2.3 Commodity-Linked Structured Deposits which are linked to commodity futures contracts will carry certain unique risks and may provide a different return than Commodity-Linked Structured Deposits linked to the relevant physical commodity

The price of a futures contract on a commodity may be at a premium or at a discount to the spot price of the underlying commodity. In addition, and depending on the commodity, there can be significant differences in the liquidity of the spot and the futures markets. Accordingly, Commodity-Linked Structured Deposits which are linked to commodity futures contracts may provide a different return than Commodity-Linked Structured Deposits linked to the relevant physical commodity.

Investments in futures contracts involve certain other risks, including potential illiquidity. A holder of a futures position may find that such position becomes illiquid because certain commodity exchanges limit fluctuations in such futures contract prices pursuant to daily limits on price. Once the price of a particular futures contract has increased or decreased by an amount equal to the daily limit, positions in the contract can neither be taken nor liquidated unless holders are willing to effect trades at or within the limit. This could prevent a holder from promptly liquidating unfavourable positions and subject it to substantial losses. Futures contract prices in various commodities occasionally have exceeded the daily limit for several consecutive days with little or no trading. Any such losses in such circumstances could have a negative adverse effect on the return of any Commodity-Linked Structured Deposits linked to the affected futures contract.

A Customer investing in Commodity-Linked Structured Deposits linked to the price of commodity futures contracts do not participate in the interest yields that may be available in connection with the collateralisation of a direct investment in commodity futures contracts.

7.2.4 Additional risks in relation to the “rolling” of commodity futures contracts (including commodity futures contracts which are components of a commodity index)

In the case of Commodity-Linked Structured Deposits linked to a commodity contract, the referenced commodity contract will simply be changed without liquidating or entering into any positions in the commodity contracts. Accordingly, the effects of “rolling” on a direct investment in commodity futures contracts or a commodity index do not apply directly on the Reference Asset and the Commodity-Linked Structured Deposits. Thus, Customers will not participate directly in possible effects of “rolling”. However, other market participants in commodity futures contracts or commodity index sponsors may act in accordance with the mechanism of “rolling” and such behaviour may have an indirect adverse impact on the value of the Reference Asset of the Commodity-Linked Structured Deposits.

7.2.5 Commodity Accounts

If Commodity Account(s) apply to a Commodity-Linked Structured Deposit, the Customer should note that physical settlement under the Commodity-Linked Structured Deposit may occur by way of a transfer of the specified asset(s) to the Commodity Account(s). Any specified asset(s) delivered in such manner will be reflected in the Commodity Account(s) as a credit balance of such specified asset(s).

The only method for a Customer to withdraw such balance of specified asset(s) is to convert such balance with the Bank at the Spot Conversion Rate which is determined by the Calculation in its sole discretion. The Customer cannot obtain physical delivery of the specified asset(s) in any form and is not entitled to any rights, title or interest to such specified asset(s). The Customer cannot transfer or convert such balance of the specified asset(s) to any party other than the Bank. The Customer may receive less than what the specified asset(s) reflected in the balance subject to conversion are worth in the open market if the Spot Conversion Rate is lower than the market price of such specified asset(s). If a Commodity in a Customer’s Commodity Account is sold to the Bank, the Customer may receive less than its initial investment if the Spot Conversion Price is less than the price at which the relevant Commodity was acquired.

7.3 Index-Linked Structured Deposits

7.3.1 Index-Linked Structured Deposits in general

Indices to which the Index-Linked Structured Deposits are linked may comprise a synthetic portfolio of shares, commodity contracts or other components, and as such, the performance of an index is dependent upon the factors relating to the relevant components that comprise such index, which may include interest and price levels on the capital markets, currency developments, economic or political factors and (in the case of shares) company-specific factors such as earnings position, market position, risk situation, shareholder structure and distribution policy.

Index-Linked Structured Deposits are not in any way sponsored, endorsed, sold or promoted by the relevant index sponsor(s) and the index sponsor(s) make no warranty or representation whatsoever, express or implied, either as to the results to be obtained from the use of the relevant index or indices and/or the figure(s) at which the relevant index or indices stand at any particular time on any particular day or otherwise. The index sponsor(s) shall not be liable (whether in negligence or otherwise) to any person for any error in the relevant index or indices and the index sponsor(s) shall not be under any obligation to advise any person of an error therein.

An index may be a property index referencing certain property price data which will be subject to market price fluctuations. A property index may include valuations only and not actual transactions and the property data sources used to compile the index may be subject to change, which may adversely affect the return on the Index-Linked Structured Deposit. Or, an index could be a proprietary index referencing an index sponsor's proprietary strategic algorithm or quantitative strategy. A proprietary index may not perform as expected or predicted by underlying strategic algorithm or quantitative strategy. The index sponsor of such an index is not responsible or liable for the performance of the underlying strategic algorithm or quantitative strategy. Further, the historical results and/or backtesting data corresponding to a proprietary index do not guarantee, and are not reliable indicators of, future performance of the proprietary index.

The rules of an index or indices may be complex and may also contain provisions that may in certain circumstances adversely affect the Customer's investment in an Index-Linked Structured Deposit. The applicable Confirmation for the Index-Linked Structured Deposit will contain information relating to the index or indices (which may include the rules for and additional risk considerations in relation to such index or indices).

7.3.2 Adjustment to index or indices

If an index adjustment event (as described in the terms and conditions of the relevant Index-Linked Structured Deposits) occurs, the Calculation Agent or the Bank may make such adjustments as it determines appropriate (in its sole discretion) to the terms of the Index-Linked Structured Deposits or terminate the Index-Linked Structured Deposits. Such action may have an adverse effect on the amount(s) payable and/or specified asset(s) deliverable under the affected Index-Linked Structured Deposits.

7.3.3 Returns on the Index-Linked Structured Deposits do not reflect direct investment or ownership rights in underlying shares or other components comprising the index or indices

The return on an Index-Linked Structured Deposit may not reflect the return a Customer would realise if the Customer actually owned the components of the relevant index or indices. For example, if the components of the index or indices are shares, the Customer will not receive any dividends paid on those shares and will not participate in the return on those dividends unless the relevant index or indices take(s) such dividends into account for purposes of calculating the relevant level. Similarly, the Customer will not have any voting rights in the underlying shares or any other components of the relevant index or indices. Accordingly, the Customer who invested in an Index-Linked Structured Deposit may realise a lower return upon termination of such Index-Linked Structured Deposit than the Customer would have realised if the Customer had invested in the components of the relevant index or indices directly.

7.3.4 A change in the composition or discontinuance of an index could adversely affect the value of Index-Linked Structured Deposits

In some cases, the index sponsor can add, delete or substitute the components of an index or make other methodological changes that could change the level of one or more components. The changing of components of any index may affect the level of such index as a newly added component may perform significantly worse or better than the component it replaces, which in turn may affect the performance of an Index-Linked Structured Deposit. The index sponsor may also alter, discontinue or suspend calculation or dissemination of such index. The index sponsor will have no involvement in the offer of any Index-Linked Structured Deposit and will have no obligation to any Customer investing in any Index-Linked Structured Deposit. The index sponsor may take any actions in respect of an index without regard to the interests of the Customers, and any of these actions could adversely affect the performance of the Index-Linked Structured Deposits.

7.3.5 Commodity Index-Linked Structured Deposits

Commodity Index-Linked Structured Deposits may be linked to indices that are not commonly utilised or have been recently developed. The lack of a trading history may make it difficult to anticipate the volatility or other risks to which the Structured Deposit is subject. In addition, there may be less trading in such indices or instruments underlying such indices, which could increase the volatility of such indices and decrease the value of or return on the Index-Linked Structured Deposits relating to them. Risks highlighted above relating to the 'rolling' of commodity futures contracts (where such contracts are components of a commodity index) would also apply.

7.3.6 An entity within the Standard Chartered Group may be the index sponsor of an index which is referenced by an Index-Linked Structured Deposit

Customers should note that an Index-Linked Structured Deposit may be referenced to an index or indices developed, owned, calculated and maintained by an entity in the Standard Chartered Group (including, but not limited to, proprietary indices). Under the rules of such index or indices, the Standard Chartered Group as Index Sponsor may be given wide discretion in the calculation and compilation of the index or indices and any exercise of such discretion by the Standard Chartered Group may be adverse. In such circumstances, the Standard Chartered Group as Index Sponsor would not be under any obligation to take into account the interests of the Customers in relation to any Index-Linked Structured Deposits that reference such index. In such capacity as Index Sponsor, the Standard Chartered Group will have the authority to make determinations that could materially and adversely affect the value of the Index-Linked Structured Deposits.

7.4 Equity-Linked Structured Deposits

7.4.1 Equity-Linked Structured Deposits in general

The amount(s) payable and/or specified asset(s) deliverable under an Equity-Linked Structured Deposit may depend upon the performance of equity securities, exchange traded funds (“ETF”) and exchange traded notes (“ETN”), to which the Equity-Linked Structured Deposit are linked. The performance of such equity securities is dependent upon, among other things, macroeconomic factors, such as interest and price levels of capital markets, currency developments, economic and political factors and company specific factors such as earnings position, market position, risk situation, shareholder structure and distribution policy.

7.4.2 Risks relating to ETFs

ETFs are closed-ended collective investment schemes, traded as shares on stock exchanges, and typically replicate a stock market index, market sector, commodity or basket of assets.

ETFs can broadly be grouped into two types. Traditional ETFs track, replicate and correspond to the performance of an underlying index. Synthetic ETFs mimic the behaviour of traditional ETFs through the use of derivatives such as swaps and performance-linked notes.

ETFs are subject to tracking error risk, namely the disparity between the performance of the ETF as measured by its net asset value and the performance of the underlying index. Tracking error may arise due to various factors. These include, failure of the ETFs tracking strategy, the impact of fees and expenses, foreign exchange differences between the base currency or trading currency of an ETF and the currencies of the underlying investments, or corporate actions such as rights and bonus issues by the issuers of the ETFs underlying securities.

Trading on an Exchange does not, in and of itself guarantee that a liquid market exists for an ETF. A higher liquidity risk is also involved if an ETF invests in financial derivative instruments that not actively traded in the secondary market and where price transparency is not as easily accessible as physical securities. This may result in a bigger bid and offer spread. Further, an ETF is exposed to the economic, political, currency, legal and other risks of a specific sector or market related to the underlying equity, commodity, asset or index that the ETF is designated to track. Synthetic ETFs typically invest in over-the-counter derivatives issued by counterparties. Such a synthetic ETF may suffer losses potentially equal to the full value of the derivatives issued by the counterparty upon its default. Synthetic ETFs are therefore exposed to both the risks of the securities that constitute the index as well as the credit risk of the counterparty that issues the financial derivative instruments for replicating the performance of the index.

7.4.3 Risks relating to ETNs

An Equity-Linked Structured Deposit may be linked to ETNs that are structured financial instruments such as asset-backed securities, mortgage-backed securities, collateralized loan obligation securities, credit-linked securities and other structured securities. The return on such ETNs may be linked to and/or backed by any items and/or assets. Such ETNs may be subject to a high degree of complex risks and may lose all or substantially all of their value upon the occurrence of certain event(s). The performance of ETNs may be affected by numerous factors, including, without limitation, supply and demand relationships, general asset and/or market conditions, interest rates, currency exchange rates, the financial situation of each relevant obligor and each reference entity, changes in political and economic conditions generally and/or changes in specific industry segments, changes in governmental rules, regulations and fiscal policies, financial mismanagement, war or acts of violence or force majeure.

Amounts payable under certain ETNs may depend upon the performance of one or more underlying or referenced items and/or assets and/or the occurrence or non-occurrence of events which may include, without limitation, credit events and other risk related events.
