Our approach to tax

The Group's approach to tax is governed by our tax strategy which has been approved by the Board. Under our tax strategy, we manage our tax affairs in alignment with our commercial strategy, having regard to building long term shareholder value and to maintaining our reputation as a responsible taxpayer with tax authorities and regulators.

The Group aims to control tax risks to ensure that losses (financial or reputational), including any related to conduct of business matters, do not cause material damage to the Group's franchise. Risks relating to the tax aspects of financial crime compliance are governed by the Group Financial Crime Risk Committee. Management of all other tax risks is overseen by the Group Non-Financial Risk Committee. Both directly report to Group Risk Committee.

Our tax policy

Standard Chartered operates in accordance with our values and our Brand Promise Here for good. In the UK, Standard Chartered has adopted The Code of Practice on Taxation for Banks, which commits us to operate in accordance with our understanding of the intentions of Parliament in relation to tax planning. We seek to apply this standard in all jurisdictions in which we operate and are committed to paying all taxes legally due.

We manage our relationships with tax authorities and regulators in a transparent, professional and constructive manner. We routinely seek feedback from Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs (HMRC) on our relationship with them and we seek to resolve issues with HMRC before returns are filed where practicable.

Standard Chartered contributes to the development of sustainable tax policy and legislation, typically through direct engagement with tax authorities, public consultation processes or in our role as a member of an industry group.

Across our markets, we operate as one bank. We are a global business and have substantial commercial operations in both high and low tax jurisdictions. Our tax filings are based on the premise that transactions between group entities are priced on an arm's length basis. We do not artificially divert profits to low tax jurisdictions. Tax is considered as part of relevant business decisions and we only engage in tax planning that supports a genuine commercial activity. We do not enter into transactions whose sole purpose is to minimise or reduce tax cost. Similarly, we do not promote products to our customers where the tax treatment is contrary to our understanding of the intent of the law.

We are committed to combatting financial crime, including money laundering arising from tax evasion, and in accordance with the UK's corporate criminal offence legislation, prevention of the facilitation of tax evasion by the Group or associated persons. We also support tax authorities in their efforts to tackle tax evasion through client tax information regimes such as FATCA and the Common Reporting Standard.

Contributions to tax revenues

Paying taxes is one of the many ways we contribute to sustainable growth in local economies. Standard Chartered paid corporate income taxes of $0.8 billion in 2020. In addition, we paid other taxes of $0.9 billion in 2020.

Collection of taxes

As well as the taxes borne and paid by Standard Chartered, we also play an important role on behalf of governments as collector of taxes in relation to payments made to customers, clients and employees. In 2020, we collected $2.4 billion of employment and other taxes on behalf of governments.

Country by Country Disclosure

In accordance with the Capital Requirements (Country-by-Country Reporting) Regulations 2013, set out below is the country-by-country information in respect of the year ended 31 December 2020.

The basis of preparation of the disclosure is as follows:

Country: The country disclosed for each entity is generally based on their country of incorporation. The country of incorporation is the same as the country where the entity is managed and controlled for most entities but where they are not the same; the country where the entity is managed and controlled is used. For branches, which do not have a country of incorporation, their country of operation has been used.

Number of employees: The number of employees has been calculated as the average number of employees, on a monthly full time equivalent basis. The location of employees is based on the location of the entities employing those individuals. For some countries (such as China, Ghana, India, Kenya and Malaysia) the numbers include employees of the Group's shared service centres which are located in those countries.

Turnover: This represents operating income in accordance with the Group's Income recognition policies. Intra-country turnover (i.e. turnover earned from other Group entities in the same country) is eliminated to avoid overstating the turnover in each of the countries disclosed.

Profit or loss before tax: This represents the profit or loss before tax reported in line with the Group accounting policies by the entities in each country. Intra-group income such as dividends received from group entities is included in the profit or loss before tax for the recipient country and then eliminated in group adjustments to arrive at total profit or loss before tax.

Public subsidies received: This relates to cash received in the year as a result of direct support provided by local Governments. It does not include any amounts received from central bank operations that are designed for financial stability purposes or operations that aim to facilitate the functioning of the monetary policy transmission mechanism. Furthermore, schemes in line with the European Commission's guidance on state aid are not considered as public subsidies.

Corporate Income Tax: This is the corporate income tax paid in each country in the 2020 calendar year. Tax on profits is paid across multiple periods and can be offset by losses from earlier periods. Taxable profits may also differ to accounting profits where tax law prescribes alternative treatment of items. Accordingly, the amount of tax paid in a year in any jurisdiction, may not be directly comparable to the accounting profit for that year.

Employer Payroll taxes: These are taxes borne by Standard Chartered as a result of employing staff. This does not include income taxes withheld on payments made to employees, which are the liability of the employee themselves and are merely collected by Standard Chartered on behalf of tax authorities.

Withholding Taxes: For the purposes of this disclosure withholding taxes only include those taxes which Standard Chartered has borne. It does not include taxes withheld on payments to external parties.

Irrecoverable VAT: This is the portion of the input VAT which is irrecoverable. Not all countries have a VAT system which is reflected in the entries in the table.

Other additional Taxes: This includes all other tax payments made in 2020 to authorities where SCB has borne the cost. Examples include the UK Bank Levy, property taxes and stamp taxes. The most material of these is the UK Bank Levy which is paid across multiple years and therefore the amount paid may differ to the accounting accrual.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT TO THE DIRECTORS OF STANDARD CHARTERED PLC

Opinion

We have audited the country-by-country schedule and notes to the schedule (together 'the Schedule') of Standard Chartered PLC ('the Company') for the year ended 31 December 2020.

In our opinion, the accompanying country-by-country information, labelled as audited in the Schedule, of the Company for the year ended 31 December 2020 is prepared, in all material respects, in accordance with the requirements of The Capital Requirements (Country-by-Country Reporting) Regulations 2013 ('the Regulations').

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (UK) (ISAs (UK)). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Schedule section of our report.

We are independent of the Company in accordance with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the Schedule in the UK, including the Financial Reporting Council's Ethical Standard, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Conclusions relating to going concern

In auditing the Schedule, we have concluded that the directors' use of the going concern basis of accounting in the preparation of the Schedule is appropriate. Our evaluation of the directors' assessment of the Company's ability to continue to adopt the going concern basis of accounting included:

- Understanding management's going concern assessment process, including the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic (COVID-19);
- Review of the Corporate Plan, including assessing the reasonableness of assumptions and historical forecasting accuracy;
- Assessing the results of management's stress testing, including consideration of principal and emerging risks, on funding, liquidity and regulatory capital; and
- Reviewing correspondence with prudential regulators and authorities for matters that may impact the going concern assessment.

Based on the work we have performed, we have not identified any material uncertainties relating to events or conditions that, individually or collectively, may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern for a period of twelve months from when the Schedule is authorised for issue.

Our responsibilities and the responsibilities of the directors with respect to going concern are described in the relevant sections of this report. However, because not all future events or conditions can be predicted, this statement is not a guarantee as to the company's ability to continue as a going concern.

Emphasis of Matter - Basis of Accounting and Restriction on Use

We draw attention to the basis of preparation note to the Schedule, which describes the basis of accounting. The Schedule is prepared to assist the Company in meeting the requirements of the Regulations. As a result, the Schedule may not be suitable for another purpose. This report is made solely to the Company's directors, as a body, in accordance with our engagement letter dated 2 November 2020. To the fullest extent permitted by law, we do not accept or assume responsibility to anyone other than the Company and the Company's directors as a body, for our audit work, for this report, or for the opinions we have formed. Our opinion is not modified in respect of this matter.

Other information

The other information comprises the information included in the Schedule, other than the audited information in the Schedule and our auditor's report thereon. The directors are responsible for the other information contained within the Schedule.

Our opinion on the Schedule does not cover the other information and, except to the extent otherwise explicitly stated in this report, we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

Our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the Schedule or our knowledge obtained in the course of the audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. If we identify such material inconsistencies or apparent material misstatements, we are required to determine whether there is a material misstatement in the Schedule itself. If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of the other information, we are required to report that fact.

We have nothing to report in this regard.

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged with Governance for the Schedule

Management is responsible for the preparation of the Schedule in accordance with the Regulations, for the appropriateness of the basis of preparation and the interpretation of the Regulations as they affect the preparation of the Schedule, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of the Schedule that is free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the Schedule, the directors are responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters relating to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the directors either intend to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance are responsible for overseeing the Company's financial reporting process.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Schedule

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the Schedule is free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with ISAs (UK) will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of this Schedule.

Explanation as to what extent the audit was considered capable of detecting irregularities, including fraud

Irregularities, including fraud, are instances of non-compliance with laws and regulations. We design procedures in line with our responsibilities, outlined above, to detect irregularities, including fraud. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement due to fraud is higher than the risk of not detecting one resulting from error, as fraud may involve deliberate concealment by, for example, forgery or intentional misrepresentations, or through collusion. The extent to which our procedures are capable of detecting irregularities, including fraud is detailed below. However, the primary responsibility for the prevention and detection of fraud rests with both those charged with governance of the entity and management.

Our approach was as follows:

- We obtained an understanding of the legal and regulatory frameworks that are applicable to the Company and determined that the most significant are those that relate to the reporting framework (International Accounting Standards in conformity with the requirements of the Companies Act 2006 and International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRSs) adopted pursuant to Regulation (EC) No. 1606/2002 as it applies in the European Union (EU), Companies Act 2006 and the UK Corporate Governance Code), The Capital Requirements (Country-by-Country Reporting) Regulations 2013, regulations and supervisory requirements of the Prudential Regulation Authority, Financial Conduct Authority and other overseas regulatory requirements, including but not limited to regulations in its major markets such as Hong Kong, India, South Korea, Singapore, United States of America, and the relevant tax compliance regulations in the jurisdictions in which the Group operates. In addition, we concluded that there are certain significant laws and regulations that may have an effect on the determination of the amounts and disclosures in the Schedule and those laws and regulations relating to regulatory capital and liquidity, conduct, financial crime including anti-money laundering, sanctions, market abuse and environmental regulations recognising the financial and regulated nature of the Group's activities.
- We understood how Standard Chartered PLC is complying with those frameworks by performing a combination of inquiries of senior management and those charged with governance as required by auditing standards, review of board and committee meeting minutes, gaining an understanding of the Group's approach to governance and inspection of regulatory correspondences in the year.
- We assessed the susceptibility of the Company's Schedule to material misstatement, including how fraud might occur by considering the controls that the Group has established to address risks identified by the entity, or that otherwise seek to prevent, deter or detect fraud. Our procedures to address the risks identified also included incorporation of unpredictability into the nature, timing and/or extent of our testing, challenging assumptions and judgements made by management in their significant accounting estimates and journal entry testing.
- Based on this understanding, we designed our audit procedures to identify non-compliance with such laws and regulations. Our procedures involved inquiries of Group legal counsel, money laundering reporting officer, internal audit, certain senior management executives and focused testing. We also performed inspection of key regulatory correspondence from the relevant regulatory authorities and review of minutes of the Board and Board committees.
- For instances of actual or suspected non-compliance with laws and regulations, which have a material impact on the financial statements, these were communicated to the Group audit engagement team and component teams who performed audit procedures such as inquiries with management and external legal counsel, sending confirmations to external lawyers and meeting with external regulators. Where appropriate, we involved specialists from our firm to support the audit team. The Group operates in the banking industry which is a highly regulated environment. As such the Senior Statutory Auditor considered the experience and expertise of the Group audit engagement team, the component teams and the shared service centre teams to ensure that the team had the appropriate competence and capabilities, which included the use of specialists where appropriate.

A further description of our responsibilities for the audit of the Schedule is located on the Financial Reporting Council's website at <https://www.frc.org.uk/auditorsresponsibilities>. This description forms part of our auditor's report.

The engagement partner on the audit resulting in this independent auditor's report is David Canning-Jones.

5. Ireland includes the results of one entity incorporated in the Isle of Man which is managed and controlled in Ireland.

6. 'Group Adjustments' eliminates double counting that would occur if we added together our subsidiaries' income with the recipients' income, due to dividends from subsidiaries and intra group gains/losses. Our subsidiaries make dividend payments to Group entities out of their local income after paying local tax and these dividends are then recognised as income in the recipient country. 'Group Adjustments' in relation to the UK includes $(1.4)bn to offset dividend income.

7. For countries (Bahamas, Canada, Colombia, Curacao, Lebanon, Luxembourg, Peru, Samoa and Uruguay) where entities have insignificant activity and financial results, they are not included in the above table but the relevant entities are included in the schedule of "Business entities and Business activities".
